TRUMAN URGES PRICE CONTROL LAW

Decide Wednesday On Trial Scene

Van Wert Officer Better

Prosecutors To Meet Tomorrow

Officials expect to decide tomorrow whether Robert Murl Daniels, 24, will be returned to Mansfield for trial in the brutal slaying of John E. Niebel, reformatory farm superintendent, his wife and daughter.

With Sgt. Leonard D. Conn, Van Wert policeman who was critically wounded by Daniels' companion in crime last Friday, on the way to recovery, Van Wert county officials said today they were ready to release Daniels to Richland or one of two other counties to face murder charges.

Prosecutor Theodore Lutz of Richland county and authorities from Seneca and Franklin counties will meet in Van Wert Wednesday morning to decide who will get Daniels for trial. The conference will be held in the common pleas courtroom at Van Wert.

The Franklin county jury at Columbus yesterday returned a first-degree murder indictment against Daniels in the slaying of Earl Ambrose, Columbus tavern owner, on July 10.

WANTED AT TIFFIN

Seneca county wants him in the slaynig of James Smith, farmer, of near Tiffin, last Thursday night. Daniels has contended that his pal, John Coulter West, shot to death near Van Wert the following day, was responsible for Smith's death.

The Niebels were slain in a cornfield northeast of Mansfield last Wednesday morning after they had been kidnaped from their home on North Main street road.

The two-week crime orgy may result in an increased field parole force for Ohio. Both Daniels and West were parolees from the Mansfield reformatory.

Following a meeting with parole and welfare officials yesterday, Gov. Thomas J. Herbert said the field force virtually will be doubled and that the entire probation and parole system will be expanded and tightened immediately.

"I don't believe, however," Herbert said, "that the recent tragedies could have been avoided with the most effective parole system in the world."

MORE FUNDS NEEDED

He said the expansion program depends chiefly on the state's ability to obtain emergency funds to hire field and supervisory officers at higher salaries.

The state now has 22 parole field officers and the governor said the number would be boosted to 40.

Daniels was taken to Van Wert yesterday from Celina for a preliminary hearing before a justice of the peace on a charge of shooting to kill Sgt. Conn. The hearing was postoned until Aug. 5 and Daniels was returned to Celina.

Commenting on charges made by Daniels that an inmate had been beaten to death and buried on the reformatory grounds, Reformatory Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said:

"I've inquired among the staff.

Earth Hides Brute-Killer

PARKERSBURG, W. Va.—(INS)—A kindly earth hid the body of killer ex-convict John Coulter West today as it hides the bodies of saints and sinners alike.

West, shot between the eyes by Patrolman Leonard Conn near Van Wert, O., to end a two-week murder spree that counted six innocent victims, was buried in Mt. Olivet cemetery in Parkersburg.

Rev. Dr. Logan Martin, pastor of the First Christian church, said a month ago that the paroled, 22-year-old ex-convict was "going the right way." He said he was "heartbroken" that the funeral assignment had been given to him.

OK's Patrol Station

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert today authorized the Ohio department of highways at Ashland to build a highway patrol station in Medina county, division three. The station will include offices, garages and barracks for the State Highway Patrol and will be located on State Route 18 in the village of Medina.

Bulletin

Two armed bandits today robbed the Tiro Farmers and Citizens bank, about 1:40 p. m., and escaped with at least $2,000, Cashier Edith McNutt said. The men, about 30 years old, entered the bank, brandishing pistols. Shelby police said the bandits stole a car in Shelby shortly before staging the robbery. The car belonged to Frank Allen and bore license WL-343. Sheriffs, police, and state highway patrolmen in northern Ohio were alerted and road blocks were set up in the area. One of the bandits was described as dark and the other light.

25-Year-Olds To Get First Draft Call

Decision Announced By Gen. Hershey

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey announced today that 25-year-old men will be drafted first. Other age groups will be taken in order of their registration, he said.

Out of the 5,000,000 men to be processed in age groups 22-25 inclusive, Hershey estimated that only about 70,000 would be actually subject to peacetime service of 21 months. He called attention to the fact that deferments for various reasons would cut down the number of men available.

The draft director said he has not yet received word from the army as to when or how many men they will require. He told a news conference last week that the first call probably will not be issued before Oct. 1.

Today Hershey said that if the army should ask for 30,000 men on the first call, selective service probably would have to dip down into 23-year-olds to get that many. He said he doubts that more than 8,000 25-year-olds are available for service.

Registration of the 25-year olds starts Aug. 30. Succeeding age groups will register in September ending with the 18-year-olds on Sept. 18.

Hershey stressed that all men in the 18-25 age brackets must register, unless they are on active duty in the armed services. Veterans and members of the National Guard and other reserve units are required to register, he said. He added that selective service has not yet written regulations to govern deferments.

Reno's Scene Of Campaign Against Vice

RENO—(INS)—A civic drive to outlaw prostitution in Reno became the American divorce capital's foremost current issue today following a stormy city council meeting at which citizens demanded immediate action.

The anti-prostitution forces were spearheaded at last night's council session by Dr. Byron H. Caples, venereal disease officer for the Nevada board of health, who charged that the city fathers seemed to have "adopted a program of no action."

Dr. Caples said he was scheduled to speak on the subject before the Reno Optimists club today and had invited every member of the city council as well as Mayor Francis Smith to attend the meeting, but all had declined.

Minister, Friend Face Court Trial

ATLANTA—(AP)—A middle-aged Baptist minister, accused of adultery, hoped today for a reconciliation with the wife he left in South Carolina.

The Rev. D. A. Martin, 45, and Miss Lois Chandler, 27, were bound over to Fulton county criminal court yesterday in a tear-filled preliminary hearing after city detectives said the two had lived together as man and wife since March, 1947.

DIES OF INJURIES

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Injuries received last Wednesday when her car struck a utility pole in suburban Euclid proved fatal today to Mrs. Ruth Eller, 45, of Geneva, O.

Silence Surrounds Closing

Chief Won't Discuss Bookie

Silence today surrounded the sudden closing of the horse race bet booking establishment at 12½ South Main street. The bookie was closed yesterday.

Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab continued to profess complete ignorance of the closing action, answering questions about the shutdown with a cryptic, "I don't know anything about it."

Max Mosberg, who has operated the bookie, said: "I have nothing to say about it."

Reports that Miss Justine Sterkel, owner of the building which has housed the bookie establishment, requested the closing were denied by Miss Sterkel.

"I know nothing about such stories," she replied.

Punchboards and poker sheets continued to operate today in Mansfield's business establishments, indicating that if the bookie closing order came from the police, it did not include all forms of gambling.

CLOSED JAN. 31

The horse race bet booking place first closed Jan. 31 when it and all types of gambling operations in the city were suspended.

At first officials said they knew nothing about it, but later Chief Schwab said he had ordered a permanent shut-down.

Eight weeks later, however, the lid started to tilt, and within a short time, the horse bookie, punch board aid poker sheet operations were in full swing.

Russia Hits At Corridor

Seeks to Block Berlin Air Traffic

BERLIN—(INS)—The Russians embarked on a desperate new effort today to combat the air lift from western occupation zones of Germany into Berlin.

The Soviets warned that their fighter craft will fly from five airfields located in the Berlin safety zone through all three corridors linking the west with Berlin.

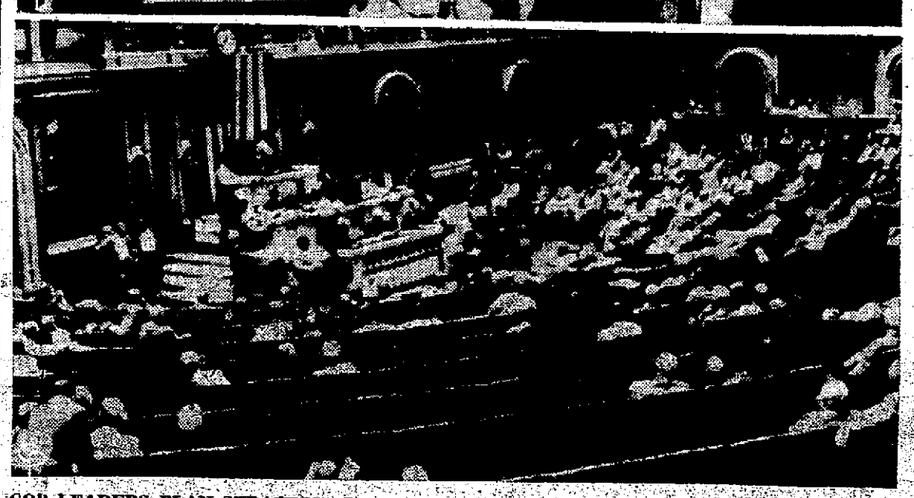
The warning said the Russian fighters will fly at altitudes of five to seven thousand feet normally used by United States and British transport planes.

Counter moves by the western allies are anticipated. The allied decision to embargo rail shipments of goods to and from Russia through their zones in Germany is regarded as a precursor of other steps which may be taken in retaliation for the Berlin blockade.

The western allies and Russia became further embroiled today in a dispute over the suspension of Berlin's German communist police chief by the Berlin city council.

Chief Paul Markgraf, it appears, is both out and in—out as police head as far as the western sectors of Berlin are concerned, and in as far as the Russians are concerned in their sector.

Meanwhile western power diplomats met in London today to take a final action on new representations to Russia concerning the blockade of Berlin.



GOP LEADERS PLAN STRATEGY—Republican congressional leaders met Monday in House Speaker Joseph W. It's Sour News, Folks

Milk Prices Due To Jump Again

Price-harassed Mansfield housewives are facing another bulge in the budget.

Milk prices are expected to go up another two cents in the near future following the lead of increases in larger cities. In Cleveland a hike from 20 to 22 cents per quart for whole milk has been set for Aug. 1.

Whole milk is currently selling in Mansfield for 20 cents. It was boosted to that figure—equalling the all-time 1947 high—on Jan. 1. Homogenized milk sells at 21 cents. It will be raised to 23 cents in Cleveland with a similar increase expected here.

Dale Dohner, secretary of the North Central Ohio Milk Producers association, said increasing costs of labor and feed would probably make the increase in price necessary. He said that there is a very serious shortage in milk production in metropolitan areas and predicted the shortage will be even worse this winter.

In Cleveland the shortage was cited as one of the reasons for the price increase. "It is hoped that the increase to milk producers will induce them to increase production," Dohner said.

HOLMESVILLE MAN KILLED

MILLERSBURG—(AP)—Clarence Fry, 28, of nearby Holmesville, died last night of injuries received in a nine-foot fall at the Wooster plant of Timken Roller Bearing company.

Crash Kills Woman, 71

NEW LONDON—One motorist was dead today and two others were injured as a result of a two-car accident at 3:30 p. m. yesterday at the Black Creek bridge on U. S. Route 224, three miles southwest of here.

Mrs. Roger Miller, 71, of Minds, Pa., was killed instantly. Her husband, Roger, is reported in critical condition at the New London hospital. He is reported suffering from internal injuries and a broken arm, leg and ribs.

The driver of the other vehicle, Rev. William, Fryc, of Ottoville, a Catholic priest, was injured. Hospital attaches listed his condition as "good."

EXPLOSION KILLS 10

ROME—(UP)—The army reported today that 10 persons were killed and three were injured in an ammunition dump explosion at Prato Cavalli yesterday.

Molnar Jury Says 'Guilty'

Convicts Official In Bribery Case

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Fired Police Lieut. Ernest L. Molnar today faced a possible prison sentence of one to 80 years for accepting $80,000 in bribes from convicted policy racketeers.

Molnar was found guilty last night on all eight counts of a bribery indictment, but Mayor Thomas A. Burke declared "other phases" of the city's investigation of bribes would be announced later.

He asserted he and the safety department headed by Director William Smith "have known for some time that a few members of the police department warranted scrutiny and I want to emphasize that we have been, and are, doing something about that."

Jury Foreman Joseph R. Miller said members of the panel voted 8 to 4 in favor of conviction of Molnar on the first ballot.

"After 10 or so ballots we agreed," Miller said. "The main question in the minds of those four people (who dissented) was the credibility of the witnesses who had police records."

Accepting the verdict stolidly, Molnar was asked by a newsman if he thought he had received a fair trial. He replied: "Oh, sure."

Joe Tinker Dies On 68th Birthday

ORLANDO, Fla.—(UP)—Joe Tinker, shortstop of the famed Chicago Cubs' Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance infield combination, died today, his 68th birthday.

Tinker had been suffering from a respiratory ailment and diabetes. He entered Orange Memorial hospital here ten days ago for treatment and this morning the hospital had reported him in his "best" condition since his admission.

WORKERS REJECT OFFER

NEWARK—(INS)—Hope of ever reopening the Pharis Tire and Rubber plant, which had employed 1,200 workers in Newark, faded today. Some 600 CIO United Rubber Workers unanimously voted last night to reject the latest revised proposal offered by the company.

Congressmen Given Warning Of Depression

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman today demanded limited price control and an excess profits tax to help check the rising cost of living and avert "another great depression."

A depression, he said, would scuttle "the world's hope for a lasting peace."

The President coupled a reiterated plea for power to hold wages in line with his price control recommendation. And he personally confronted the politically hostile 80th Congress with six other proposed brakes on spending—among them a return to credit restrictions and standby rationing authority.

"The communists, both here and abroad, are counting on our present prosperity turning into a depression," the chief executive declared.

"They do not believe that we can—or will—put the brakes on high prices. They are counting on an economic collapse in this country."

That, he said, "would cut the ground from under the free nations of Europe."

Mr. Truman addressed a joint meeting of the Senate and House on the second day of the special session he called in the heat of a presidential campaign year.

But his language was far more restrained than it was on his western tour, or in his acceptance speech to the Democratic National convention. Then he referred repeatedly to the Republican-controlled 80th Congress as one of the worst in the nation's history.

The President did not spell out the details of his price control program. He left that a question to be answered by an administration bill promised later this week — perhaps tomorrow.

But he did say the controls should be authorized for "scarce commodities which basically affect essential industrial production or the cost of living." That would seem to mean things like steel and meat.

Even before he spoke, GOP leaders made clear that Mr. Truman could pin no real hope for action on more than one or two minor points in his message.

The chief executive hit hardest at the rising cost of living. But he led off by saying that another crying need is for more and cheaper housing.

So he called again for passage of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill to meet the "acute" housing shortage.

MAKES SIX PROPOSALS

In addition to selective price-wage controls and a return to the wartime excess profits tax at a rate he did not disclose, the President asked Congress to:

1. Restore consumer credit controls — such as those which specified down payments and the time in which installment purchases had to be paid off.
2. Arm the federal reserve board with more power to regulate "inflationary bank credit."
3. Grant him power to regulate speculation on the commodity exchanges.
4. Grant him power to impose allocation and inventory control over "scarce commodities which basically affect essential production or the cost of living," the same term he used for his price control proposal.
5. Strengthen controls over rent with adequate appropriations for enforcement to prevent "further unwarranted rent increases."
6. Give him standby power to ration "those few products in short supply which vitally affect the health and welfare." He said that unless further shortages occur, this authority "might not have to be used at all."

The President asked authority to limit wage increases only where they would "force a break in a price ceiling." Even in this instance an exception would be made if the increases were "essential to remedy hardship, to correct inequities or to prevent an actual lowering of living standards."

Contending that industry has boosted prices in many recent cases where profit margins were "adequate" to absorb the increased labor costs, the President added:

"Rising wages and rising standards of living, based on increasing productivity and a fair distribution of income is the American way. Non-inflationary wage increases can and should continue to be made by free collective bargaining."

As for his entire eight-point cost of living program, Mr. Truman called it a "balanced" way to attack high prices. All eight points, he said, are "necessary to check rising prices and safeguard our economy against the danger of depression."

AVOIDS RUSSIAN PROBLEM

Aside from his reference to communists here and abroad counting on an American depression, Mr. Truman made no direct reference to this country's strained relations with Russia.

But he did assert that:

"In these tense days, when our strength is being tested all over the world, it would be reckless folly if we failed to act against inflation."

The President devoted only a single paragraph in his 3,000-word address to "urge upon Congress" the controversial civil rights program he sent to Capitol hill last February.

He did not specify priority for any of the proposals, but a "score card" made public at the White House yesterday placed emphasis on anti-poll tax and anti-lynching bills on which hearings already have been held.

The civil rights proposals, Mr. Truman said, "are necessary to carry out the American ideals of liberty and justice for all."

Message Gets Criticism, Praise on Party Lines

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Democrats and Republicans split on party lines today in praising and criticizing President Truman's message to Congress. Some comment:

Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the House appropriations committee:

"It looks like he (Mr. Truman) is in favor of increased inflation, higher prices, and greater scarcity.

"It doesn't seem there is anything there that really stands on its merits. This looks like just an attempt to push through Congress bad legislation that he wasn't able to get when the Democrats were in control."

Democratic members of the New York congressional delegation:

"It is our unanimous opinion the issues of inflation and housing alone justify the President in recalling Congress to its duty.

"To a man, we are pledged to stick to our jobs, and keep others at their jobs, until proper legislation is enacted."

Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio), who managed Senator Taft's campaign for the Republican presidential nomination:

"Many of the President's proposals do not pertain to matters of any emergency nature.

"Some are worthy of consideration. Others, however, which propose a return to the same system of government controls, rationing and regimentation which proved such an utter failure during and after the end of the war as to cause the people to demand and a Democratic Congress and President Truman himself to abandon it, are not the answer to our present problem of high prices."

Rep. McCormack (D-Mass): "It is an effective and courageous speech in the interests of all the people."

Rep. Colmer (D-Miss), a leader of the 68-man group of House Democrats organized to combat the President's civil rights program: "Southern Democrats will continue to oppose enactment of any so-called civil rights measures."

Rep. Shafer (R-Mich): "It is a rather unusual message from a President who vetoed the price control bill of the 79th Congress and later by executive order took off controls from the same items for which he is now asking controls."

UMT Leaves Mark on Army Practices

Military Training Experiment Dropped

FT. KNOX, Ky.—(INS)—The army has discontinued its universal military training program at Ft. Knox for the time being, but the experiment will leave a lasting mark on the army as a whole.

Fifteen generals, including Chief of Staff Omar Bradley and Ground Forces Chief Lt. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, began a three-day conference at Ft. Knox today on the question of transplanting UMT to the new draft army.

The high brass made it clear abandonment of the experimental UMT program does not mean the army has changed its mind. Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, second army commander, emphasized the program is still regarded as a "basic, long-range step toward national security."

Officials said many UMT developments are being carried over intact into the Third Armored division at Ft. Knox. At least six procedures are becoming army-wide. They are:

1. A carefully guided religious program.
2. The "trainee court" for punishment of minor infractions of regulations.
3. Prohibition of profanity during training periods.
4. Compulsory citizenship and morality lectures.
5. Leadership training program designed to eliminate browbeating.
6. A special citizens' advisory committee to cooperate on problems of soldier visitors.

Progressive Party Convention A Bit Tiresome For Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA—Having entertained national conventions of the Republicans, the Elks and the Democrats in that order, Philadelphia was apathetic toward the rites of a queer organization calling itself the new party, held for the purpose of ratifying the nominations of Henry Wallace and Glen Taylor.

This was no worse than fair because it was understood by all concerned that this was not a serious convention of a legitimate party but strictly an occasion for communist propaganda.

It was a ratification gala rather than a nominating convention because Wallace and Taylor already had become the candidates in many speeches hither and yon across the country and had collected an enormous kitty by the methods which the late Billy Sunday practiced so well in his day.

The new party, which took on the name of Progressive, was actually the Communist party of 1948 with an uncertain fringe of political neurotics, privateers and renegades from the Democratic household.

Old Doc Townsend, the tireless advocate of lavish old-age pensions for senior citizens over 60, was sighted lurking around the smoke-filled room of the new party's platform committee.

Doctor Townsend, an ancient M. D., first turned up in the first term of Franklin D. with a formula so palatable, however absurd, that before he knew where he was at, he was the revolving hero of an enormous political whirlwind. It lifted him high, flung him into the 1936 convention of the wildmen of that year of frenzy and presently dumped him somewhere.

He had not been heard of in years when he bobbed up again in Philadelphia claiming to have 50,000,000 votes in his pocket and willing to pledge them for a platform plank.

Except in the fact that it was a third party convention and had brought together most of the parasites from the European compounds of the city of New York, this one had little in common with the conclave of the nuts and bolts in Cleveland in 1936.

In that year, a boil of rancors and yearnings drew into one excited mass for almost a week such operatic rivals as the Rev. Charles Coughlin, the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, Doctor Townsend and a weird chorus of rubber money and social credit fakers.

The stars of the orgy, the Revs. Coughlin and Smith, waived all religious differences for the week and a whale of a time was had by all.

Since then both of them have been abused as fascists by many who were present then in Cleveland, and the priest has subsided and hasn't been heard from since the early forties.

★

The Rev. Gerald still troupes the branch lines hollering up the Muscovite menace and Henry L. Mencken, who has heard them all and painfully earned the right to his opinion, insists that he is today the greatest orator, lung-power and corn-content considered, in the United States. Next to Churchill, he might be the greatest on earth.

But whereas Henry Wallace, a bad speaker, uttering fuzzy nonsense, collects enormous baskets of folding money at his rallies, all of it tax-exempt, the Rev. Smith plays a paltry nickel-and-dime circuit and his angry alarms are heard by few. Given a few more years of aggravation from the eastern centers, however, the people of the western cities and plains might take him for a Hitler. He could do all right.

Six Injured In Mishaps In City Area

Bellville Women Hurt As Car Hits Tree

Six persons were injured in Mansfield area traffic accidents yesterday and today, the state highway patrol and police reported.

Two Bellville women, Mrs. Olive Walker, 64, and Mrs. Abigail Moses, 58, were injured yesterday afternoon when the car in which they were riding crashed into a tree at the northwest corner of South Main street and Williams avenue, Mansfield.

Police said the driver of the car, also of Bellville, told them the brakes on his car failed to hold as he was traveling north on South Main street, and that he crashed into the tree while attempting a turn into the avenue to avoid collision with another car. The mishap occurred at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Moses suffered a fractured left arm and Mrs. Walker received a bruised left shoulder. Both women were treated at General hospital and released.

TRUCK OVERTURNS

At 9 p. m. yesterday, Arthur Wilson Mohn, 50 Florence avenue, suffered cuts and abrasions of his left arm when a Borden Dairy truck left the road and overturned on U. S. Rouse 30 near the Ashland-Richland county line.

Patrolmen said William Arthur Smith, 17, of Sandusky, narrowly escaped serious injury at 1:35 a. m. today when his car struck a guard rail and bridge on State Route 13, near Shenandoah and overturned.

Patrolmen said Smith apparently fell asleep at the wheel. The collision tore down 42 feet of guard rail leading to the bridge. Smith's car, demolished in the crash, overturned after the impact. Smith escaped with minor contusions of the right arm.

Jason S. Harmon of Cadiz and Albert M. Porter of St. Clairsville, were injured early Monday when Harmon's car collided with a truck, north of Savannah on U. S. Route 250.

Edwin S. Thompson of Lincoln Park, Mich., driver of the truck, was not injured. He was fined $20 and costs by Justice of the Peace Harry Pifer of Ashland for operating his truck on more than one-half of the highway.

Both Harmon and Porter, who suffered chest injuries and cuts, were treated at Ashland Samaritan hospital.

Cactus Garden Grows At Mansfield Home

By NITA BRANSON

Three hundred and 30 cactus plants and 53 African violets create a semi-tropical atmosphere at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pickering, 127 South Diamond street.

The cactus plants are Pickering's hobby. Mrs. Pickering proudly claims the violets in the flower show.

Pickering's 330 cactus plants began with one or two given him by Henry Poth eight or nine years ago from Poth's extensive greenhouses.

Cacti are intriguing plants, Pickering discovered, and as he began to add to his original collection, he found his interest extending to their soil needs as well as to information about the amazing number of varieties.

"Out of the 330 plants here on the porch," Pickering said with a wave of his hand at the dozens and dozens of pots," there are at least 325 varieties and they are only a few from the thousands of different species. One variety alone that I know of has at least 2,000 different kinds."

At to the soil needed, Pickering says, "Some take lime and charcoal mixed with leaf mold and all take a sort of sandy soil. I've studied the plants since starting to collect and know most of the species to which my plants belong."

Pickering's collection includes both hard-leafed cactus and succulents, which have softer formation.

Among the most interesting species are "stone faces," or "Lithops."

ALL DIFFERENT

"Each little plant has a different face. They say that there are no two alike," says Pickering.

Stone faces are small stone-like formations that to the uninitiated look like anything but cactus. But then there are many formations that look like anything else but cactus plants.

There are fan-shaped plants, beautifully green, of the Euphorbia family; there's a "baby toes," which grows like the tiny toes on an infant's foot; there are peanut cacti, with the only yellow tops on cactus plants.

Then there are the flowering cacti, which shoot forth pretty blooms. One such plant was the "Glotty Phyllum," sprouting a yellow flower that looked much like a dandelion. There also is a sacred mushroom plant with little pink flowers, from which the Indians make powerful narcotics. Pickering's tallest cactus is 40 inches high.

Where does Pickering get his many plants?

"I send for them," he said, "mostly from California and Texas. Then every time my wife and I go traveling we stop in all the dime and flower stores and bring home new varieties."

Mrs. Pickering's violets began to take a definite place in family life 10 years ago. She still has the original one, now in full bloom. Most of her 53 plants are blooming.

"Plants are very sensitive," Mrs. Pickering said. "Last winter when I was ill my plants became droopy and didn't do at all well. But this spring since I'm feeling better, they've perked up and are blooming profusely."

Mansfielder In New Post

Miss Jeanette Waring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Waring of 370 Marion avenue, will become the assistant executive director of the Indianapolis YWCA Sept. 1.

Miss Waring's resignation as group work secretary of the Community Welfare Council in Dayton to accept the new position was announced by George W. Harwood, council executive secretary. She will leave Dayton Aug. 10 and visit her parents here until she assumes her new position.

Miss Waring has been with the council for three years. Previously she was on the staff of the Dayton YWCA.

Annexation Action Due

Council to Receive Measure Next Week

If the expected council action materializes, South Boulevards will become a part of the city of Mansfield on Sept. 2.

City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch said today that a resolution accepting the village's debt apportionment as drawn up by the county commissioners and the county auditor will be presented to council Aug. 3.

Council previously passed a preliminary annexation ordinance which, in effect, put the city's legislators on record as favoring annexation of South Boulevards.

The debt apportionment was worked out as directed and will be presented to council for approval in the form of a resolution. Thirty days after passage, or Sept. 2, the resolution will take effect and the village will become a part of Mansfield.

Firemen See Reason For False Alarm

Mansfield firemen aren't sure if that "false alarm" at the Westinghouse last night was entirely without reason.

There wasn't a sign of a fire when firemen arrived at 9:45 p. m., but fireman saw why someone might have thought there was.

While looking around the building, firemen discovered that the bright blast from the Globe Steel company's cupola could easily be seen through the Westinghouse plant windows, giving the impression that the fire was inside the Westinghouse building.

So there's a big question mark behind the "false alarm" entry on the fire log today.

Discuss Blood Donor Program

Six representatives of the Richland county Medical Society, General hospital and the Richland county chapter of the Red Cross, will go to Columbus next Tuesday to join in a discussion of the proposed national blood donor program.

The meeting will be held at the Seneca hotel at 1:30 p. m. Those from here who plan to attend include Dr. Max Brown, chief of staff at General hospital; Dr. J. H. King, Wayne A. Copeland, superintendent of General hospital; Mrs. Stuart Weaver, chairman of the Red Cross blood committee; Miss Bessie Easley, Red Cross nursing supervisor, and Mrs. Bess Augsburger, executive secretary of the Red Cross chapter.

Clinic Scheduled

A Well-Baby clinic will be held Wednesday at 1 p. m. at the health department offices on the third floor of the city building, Dr. Harry Wain, city-county health commissioner, announced today.

Proposes Vote In November

Mayor's Plan Gains Support

Councilman George C. Kyle, chairman of the council sewer committee, said today he would sponsor a measure at the Aug. 3 meeting of city council to place Mayor Roy W. Vaughn's proposed $500,000 bond issue for a storm sewer program on the November ballot.

"I believe that the time has come to do something about the storm sewer situation and the only way to raise the money is through the proposed general indebtedness bond issue," Kyle explained.

Mayor Vaughn first proposed the bond issue last year, but council refused to act on his suggestion. Two weeks ago, the mayor renewed his plea, pointing out that sewer rehabilitation is sorely needed and such a program cannot be financed from present operating funds.

5-YEAR PLAN OFFERED

The mayor's proposal suggests that the funds be used for a five-year storm sewer overhauling program. Councilman Kyle indicated that he would like to see the program include the sanitary sewer system which also is badly in need of repair.

However, Kyle did not indicate whether the measure to be presented next week would include any mention of the sanitary sewer system.

As far as financing is concerned, the basic difference between the storm and sanitary sewers is that the former is paid for from local taxation funds and the latter from the sale of sewer service.

Any work done on the storm sewers must be paid for from the general fund, or from general taxes.

General fund money can be used for the sanitary sewer system, but this is not general practice.

Extra funds for sanitary sewer improvements can be obtained by raising rates and issuing mortgage revenue bonds as was done five months ago in the water department.

Rites Set For Victim

Funeral services for George W. Fancher, 48, World War I veteran, of 193 East Third street, will be held Thursday at 1 p. m. at the Wappner funeral home with full military rites. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Mr. Fancher was found dead in his car on East Longview avenue at 1:10 p. m. yesterday. He died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, according to the verdict returned by Coroner D. C. Lavender.

Born Feb. 25, 1900, at Hartford City, Ind., Mr. Fancher came to Mansfield 30 years ago. He had worked as bookkeeper at the Great Lakes Steel company, and later at the People's hospital. At the time of his death he was a salesman for the Weather-Seal of Central Ohio, Inc., 460 Newman street.

Mr. Fancher had served for almost two years in World War 1, enlisting on July 19, 1917 and receiving his discharge on April 13, 1919. He was a member of Co. M, 37th Division, 146th Infantry.

Surviving are his wife, Irene; two sons, Robert and James; two daughters, Norma and Marilyn, all at home; one brother, Emerson of Florida.

Church Children To Picnic at Park

All children of the kindergarten through the intermediate departments of the First Methodist church will gather at Liberty park Thursday for a recreational party and picnic. Miss Hazel Hockett, playground leader at the park and member of the City Recreation department, will have charge of the program. The children are to meet at the church at 10 a. m. Guy Kent is in charge of the outing.

Reissues of Old Pictures Bring Wave of Nostalgia to Film Fans

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—What great movie scenes stick in your mind?

Average movie fans are suffering waves of nostalgia these days, since reissues of old pictures are now glutting the film market. Having become a fan as early as I could lift a grubby hand up to the box-office, I have a warehouse of movie memories from years past. Pour another sasparilla and listen to them:

Irene Dunne posing as a burlesque queen in "The Awful Truth" . . . Barbara Stanwyck tripping Henry Fonda in "The Lady Eve" . . . The earthquake in "San Francisco" . . . Margo growing old as she leaves Shangri-La in "Lost Horizon."

James Cagney flopping dead through a door in "Public Enemy . . . Paul Muni disappearing into the darkness at the end of "I Am a Fugitive" . . . The locust plague in "Good Earth" . . . Humphrey Bogart listening to "As Time Goes By" in "Casablanca."

Walter Huston realizing he had discovered gold in "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre" . . . Jimmy Stewart and Katharine Hepburn taking a drunken dip in "Philadelphia Story" . . . Rita Hayworth's strip teas in "Gilda" . . . Gene Kelly's dance with his double in "Cover Girl."

Burglars Get Cash, Stamps

A week-end burglary of the Commonwealth Insurance company, Walpark building, was reported to police late yesterday by Howard Tittlebaugh, manager of the office.

Tittlebaugh said a total of $82.51 in stamps and cash was taken from file cabinets in the outer office. He said the burglary took place between noon Saturday and 9 a. m. Monday.

Police investigation showed that entrance was gained by picking the lock on the office door, leading from the central hall.

Union Breaks Grip of Reds

NEW YORK —(UP)— For the first time in 12 years, the National Maritime union (CIO) was entirely free of communist control today.

National election results showed that the NMU's 60,000 members had voted right wingers into all 32 posts of the national council, and had returned President Joseph Curran to office by a 3 to 1 margin.

Curran's anti-communist supporters in New York, the NMU's key port, won appointments for 31 port patrolmen and a port agent.

Sales Tax Revenue Gains 14 Per Cent

Sales tax collections in Richland county during the week ended July 10 totaled $34,855, or 14 per cent more than was collected a similar period last year.

The report, released by Don H. Ebright, state treasurer, showed that receipts so far this year totaled $837,641 as compared with $706,760 during a similar period last year. The percentage increase is approximately 18 percent.

Bucyrus Woman Appointed To District Welfare Post

Miss Kathryn Flocken of Bucyrus has been appointed field representative of the Division of Social Administration of the Ohio Department of Public Welfare, with jurisdiction over Richland, Ashland, Wayne and Holmes counties.

Miss Flocken will succeed Mrs. Ann Minnis of Ashland, who has resigned to take a post with the Red Cross in Washington, D. C.

As field representative, Miss Flocken will be available for consultation on all problems dealing with Aid to Dependent Children, Aid to the Blind and all public and private welfare agencies.

Mrs. Jane Williams, executive secretary of the Community Chest, said today that Miss Flocken's job would include the expediting of all procedure and operations of all departments under the Ohio Welfare organization and the encouraging of public and private agencies to coordinate their work for the good of the community.

Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Katherine McMichael and other welfare agencies of Mansfield and Richland county frequently conferred with Mrs. Minnis and they will continue to do so with Miss Flocken on problems relating to welfare work here, they said.

Miss Flocken will take over her new duties Aug. 1. She has been promoted to the post from that of rehabilitation counselor with headquarters in Lima. Miss Flocken said she wasn't sure whether her headquarters would be in Mansfield or Bucyrus. She may be reached at her home, 329 South Poplar street, Bucyrus, after Sunday.

Freddie Mills Lifts Crown From Lesnevich

LOU BOUDREAU last Wednesday made a statement that was quickly knocked down his throat. . . . He said the Indians were going to win the pennant. . . . Since that time the Tribe has blown a comfortable first place margin and are now just barely above the fourth-place Yankees. . . . The Indians have won only one of six contests. . . . When Bucky Harris, Yankee manager, (he'd earlier predicted a pennant for the Yanks), heard Lou's boast he said, "Somebody should wire Boudreau when he leaves Boston and ask him if he's changed his mind." . . . Well the Indians dropped three in a row to the Red Sox. . . . But they can't be counted out. . . . Boudreau has a pretty rugged outfit which still carries enough confidence to win. . . . However, a sound Bobby Feller and someone of ability at first would help. . . . Eddie Robinson has been a big bust as a fielder and hitter. . . . Johnny Berardino can cover the initial hassock creditably but also is light with the stick. . . . Walt Judnich, the former Brownie, might by an answer at first.

Sale of Tickets For Baseball Fete Well Under Way

With the sale of tickets for the Aug. 5, Bill Veeck baseball banquet already well under way, members of the sponsoring Optimist club today announced that the tickets would be limited to 500 persons.

Facilities of the Richland Recreation center, site of the banquet, force the limitation of ticket sales to keep anyone from being crowded, one club member said.

Veeck and several Cleveland players, to be named early next week, will be the speakers at the dinner. The Indians have an off day Aug. 4.

Proceeds of the banquet will go to the Junior Optimist club at the Friendly House. The club sponsors summer camps, baseball and baseball games and an annual Christmas party.

Tickets may be purchased from any club member or at Doc Hamman's, Met's Auto Supply, Mayer Drug Store, Richland Recreation, and McMahon Supply in Mansfield and Stahl Hardware in Ashland.

Promoters Plans Are Smashed

By ROBERT C. DOWSON

LONDON—(UP)—British sportsmen were elated today that an English-born scrapper, Freddie Mills, wore the world light-heavyweight crown for the first time in 43 years; but visiting American promoters were still groggy from the shock of Gus Lesnevich's unexpected defeat.

Stocky slam-bang Mills, whom Lesnevich had stopped two years ago, not only wrested the title from Jersey Gus on a 15-round decision last night; but he blasted plans for Lesnevich to fight one of three September opponents: Joe Louis, Jersey Joe Walcott or Ezzard Charles.

GUS DOWN TWICE

A record British crowd of 46,000 at White City stadium saw Mills, a 2-1 underdog, floor the blood-smeared 34-year-old American twice in the 10th round and finisn stronger to win the decision of Referee Ted Waltham. No judges are used in England.

Waltham did not hesitate a second in pointing to Mills as the winner at the end of the close bout, which had been so dull at times that Waltham threatened to toss both principals out of the ring and call the bout "no contest."

Biscuit-faced Lesnevich of Cliffside, N. J., was badly marked up before the final bell. In the first round, Mills' wild hooking attack opened bloody gashes on both brows. In the 14th the bull-shouldered challenger opened gashes beneath both eyes.

Lesnevich's two trips to the canvas in the 10th round, for counts of eight and nine, were the only knockdowns of the fight.

MILLS UNMARKED

The United Press scored six rounds for each and three even; but Mills deserved the decision for doing the most damage and finishing the stronger. He was practically unmarked when he left the ring.

Lesnevich could find consolation in two facts: (1) he had a contract for a return bout with the 29-year-old winner within four months, and (2) he received $80,000 for his efforts.

Mills' purse was $45,000. The gross gate was about $280,000.

Whether Lesnevich could do better in a return bout was questionable. His lack of "zing" last night indicated he had weakened himself by scaling down to the 175-pound limit at his ripe ringage. He weighed 174¾ pounds; Mills, 170½.

Zitzer's-Sport Center Play For Major Loop 2nd Place

Zitzer's and Ohio Sport Center will battle for second place in the Hot Stove Major league at 5:45 p. m. today on the Liberty park diamond. Both teams have been defeated once; Sport Center has won four games and Zitzer's three.

Sons of Herman, undefeated league leaders, will meet last place Yuncker's at Blue Goose in the other game.

Two Junior league games are the only ones on tomorrow's schedule. The Moose and Marine Corps will meet at Blue Goose while the tail-end Elks and pace-setting Police battle at Liberty park.

Elementary league games are not scheduled because of the trip to the Cleveland-Philadelphia baseball game. Members of the Carpenter, Bowman, Grubaugh, Woodland and Prospect teams will leave at 8 p. m. from the Recreation department in the Hot Stove league bus.

LOP-SIDED GAMES

A pair of lop-sided games featured play in Junior games yesterday. The Eagles walloped the Elks, 16-1, and Odd Fellows swamped the Moose, 12-4. Gibson pitching for the Eagles allowed only one hit, while Nedrow, winning pitcher of the other game, did his part by hitting a home run.

Newman blasted Brinkerhoff, 10-0, in the only Elementary game played. Bushnell forfeited to Woodland and Carpenter forfeited to Grubaugh in the other games.

Madison Baseball Team Nips Lucas Behind Dick Poth

Madison township's Dick Poth won a 1-0 pitching duel from Don Stake of Lucas in a county league game yesterday at Blue Goose field.

Both pitchers allowed only three hits but Madison pieced two of them together with a stolen base to push over the winning run in the last half of the sixth inning. Wilson singled, stole second and scored on Jim Brightbill's hit.

Poth struck out 15 men. Stake eight. Madison players will meet at Blue Goose at 5 p. m. today to make the trip to Shelby for a game with the American Legion team.

Gorman-Rupp Nine Wallops Foe, 8-3

Mansfield Gorman-Rupp was back on the winning road today and had, at least temporarily, tightened its grip on first place in the North Central Ohio Inter-City softball league.

Gorman-Rupp last night beat its old nemesis, Willard's Gil Smith, 8-3, under the lights here. It was the Mansfield team's 13th victory against two defeats in league play.

Bob Regula, on the mound for Gorman-Rupp allowed only three hits and struck out 15 Willard batters. Smith walked nine men which had considerable to do with the Gorman-Rupp scoring.

Willard took a two-run lead in the first inning and built it into a 3-1 margin half-way through the fourth inning. Gorman-Rupp tied the game in the last of the fourth and went ahead with a four-run rally in the fifth.

★

Gorman-Rupp's league lead jumped to two games as Mt. Vernon Stone's Grill beat Marion Smitty's Grill, 5-4. Marion now has a 12-5 record. It was the first time within memory that a Mt. Vernon team had beaten Marion's ace, Fats Millisor.

Men's Meet Starts at Bucyrus

Mansfield teams will be in action in each of the three games tonight as the men's district softball tournament gets under way at Bucyrus.

American Veterans Committee will have the honor of playing in the first men's game of the tourney as it battles W. and W. Provision of Marion at 7:15 p. m.

Penn Auto-Sporting Goods will meet Lone Pine of Bucyrus in the second game while Tappan Stove will tangle with Perfection Steel of Galion in the 9:45 contest.

BEST CHANCE

Tappan seems to have the best chance to make headway as it carries a 7-2 Industrial league record into the joust. AVC has won five and lost three while in the Club league Penn's Independent loop record is two wins and four defeats.

Nine Mansfield teams are entered.

Tom Keane Signs With Ram Squad

BELLAIRE, O. — (LP) — Tom Keane, Bellaire, today decided to forego his final year of collegiate eligibility at West Virginia university and his signed wth the Los Angeles Rams of the Natonal Football league.

Keane was quarterback on Ohio State's national championship squad as a freshman in 1944, but left the Buckeye school to enter the Navy. He decided to enter WVU when he returned from the service and has played with the Mountaineers for the past two years.

Lippy's Lads Massacre Dodgers

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lippy Leo Durocher rode triumphantly into the Polo Grounds today in his home debut as manager of the New York Giants with all the pomp and glory of a conquering hero.

No matter what Durocher does from now on, Giant followers will never forget what he did last night. Neither will the Flatbush faithful. In a setting knee deep in drama, the former pilot of the Brooklyn Dodgers returned to his old stamping grounds and watched his Giants club his former hirelings into almost total submission The New Yorkers massacred their inter-borough rivals, 13-4.

It was sweet revenge for Giant fans who had seen their favorites humbled 32 times in 39 clashes at Ebbets field over the last four years. It also was sweet revenge for Durocher, who was shipped across the river to the Giants only 10 days ago.

In all the Giants collected 17 base hits against five Dodger pitchers.

Durocher took an unmerciful booing before the start of the game. Rarely has a manager or player been forced to accept such a shower of verbal abuse. It started the minute he poked his head out of the Giant dugout and lasted until the game got under way.

Cries of "kill the quitter," and "send the bum back to New York" were hurled at him.

The partial Dodger crowd of 33,932, all that could get into the park, didn't know it then, but that was the last chance it had to jeer Durocher and the Giants. Once the game got under way, it was Leo who had the laugh.

The Giants opened up on starter Preacher Roe as if he was the instigator of the booing. Before the game was 10 minutes old, Roe was en route to the showers and the Giants had a 5-0 first-inning lead on six hits.

The victory, only the fifth in 13 meetings with the Dodgers this year, left the Giants still in fifth place, a half game behind the Pittsburgh Pirates. In losing, the Dodgers dropped a notch into the third place, a half game behind the St. Louis Cardinals and 5½ back of the league-leading Boston Braves.

That was the only game played in the majors yesterday.

Today the five-team battle for the National league flag continues with Boston host to the Pirates in a night game, the Dodgers taking on the Cards at Ebbets field, and the Giants clashing with the Cincinnati Reds at the Polo Grounds, under the lights. In another league night contest, Philadelphia meets Chicago.

The torrid four-team fight for the American league flag also resumes with the pace-setting Boston Red Sox hoping to better their four percentage point margin over Philadelphia's Athletics at the expense of the Tigers at Detroit. The A's engage the third-place Indians in Cleveland and the New York Yankees clash with the Browns in St. Louis. In the other game, Washington comes to grips with the White Sox at Chicago. All are night affairs.

Stranahan Ties 2 Pros For Open Lead; Dale Rose, Tom Raklets Back In Pack

TOLEDO — Two professionals and one amateur were tied for the lead in the Ohio open golf tournament at the Sylvania country club here today as the 72-hole tourney went into second round play.

Tied up with two-under-par 70's were Frank Stranahan, Toledo amateur, and Ted Huge, Cleveland Heights, and John Malutic, Youngstown, both professionals Stranahan and Malutic toured the initial 18 holes in 35-35, while Huge put together a 36-34 for his sub-p figure

The only other par buster in the classy field of 163 was Phil Perkins, Cleveland, who carded a 36-35—71

Amateur Dale Rose and Pro Tom Raklets, Mansfield's two representatives in the tourney, carded 83 and 84, respectively well back of the leaders but good enough to keep them in the top 60 if they keep up the pace

Rose fired 42-41—83, while the Westbrook pro had 43-41—84

Al Marchi, of Columbus, the defending champion was only able to put together a 38-36—74 in the opening round on the tree-lined Sylvania course

The starting field will be cut to 60 today for the 36-hole championship round tomorrow

Plenty of threats were just another stroke back of par 72 in position to move into the payoff spot should anyone falter Among them were a pair of three-time winners of the Ohio title—Denny Shute of Akron and Billy Burke of Cleveland, both well-tempered in tournament tactics

Deadlocked with the two ex-champs are Jack Stoddard of Bucyrus, Charles Wipperman of Kent, Ock Wollowert of Dayton, and two public links amateurs, Johnny Nowack of Cleveland and Bobby Kay of Toledo

One thing appears certain — no one is going to tear this heavily treed and trapped layout apart, for its narrow fairways demand accuracy all the way, and its 6,700 yards provide a real test

Wittenberg Cards Three Night Games

SPRINGFIELD —(AP)— Wittenberg college will play all but one of its four home football games this year at night.

The schedule, announced yesterday by Athletic Director John B Van Why, lists the Homecoming game with Denison Nov 6 in daylight.

Other games Hillsdale, Sept 25, Ohio Northern, Oct 2, at Kenyon, Oct 9, at Mount Union, Oct 16, Heidelberg, Oct 23, at Marietta, Oct 29, at Wooster, Nov 13

The Mount Union and Marietta road games also will be at night.

Baseball-Softball Program Slated Under G-R Lights

An attractive softball-baseball program will be presented under the lights at Gorman-Rupp field starting at 6 15 p m

The baseball conflict between youngsters in the Hot Stove Elementary league program will open the show with Komito's Clothes battling Greystone Nite club in the Independent softball league clash at 8 p m

Komito's is one of Mansfield's three remaining undefeated clubs with five straight league wins to its credit Greystone is tied for second place in the Independent Class A circuit The Clothes nine rapped Greystone, 12 to 0, in the first game of the season but the Nite clubbers have improved considerably

Woodland and Rebecca Grubaugh are slated to meet in the Hot Stove encounter Both teams got a late start on the winning side but have been rolling along in recent games Woodland has won four of nine and Grubaugh, six of 13

Legion Team Host To Sandusky Nine

Mansfield's American Legion Juniors baseball team will make its first home appearance since winning the district championship tomorrow at Liberty park

The Juniors will be host to a junior all-star team from Sandusky at 5 30 p m Dutch Bader will likely do most of the hurling for the locals

Westbrook Caddy Tourney Starts With 5 Matches

Opening round matches in the Westbrook caddy tournament were played yesterday morning with a majority being decided by large margins

Johnny Nusbaum defeated Gerald Jones one up in the only close match of the day None of the other matches played went farther than the twelfth hole, while three players drew first-round byes

Winning by the largest margin was Dean Hahn, who beat Duane Keck, 8 and 7 Harold Restelli beat Jack Inscore, 8 and 6, and Bud Barth ousted Dick Vrable and Jimmy Hager eliminated Chuck Vandlek by identical scores of 7 and 6 Larry Inscore, the defending champ, Jimmy Rubino and Jud Butler held byes

Next week's quarter-final pairings are Restelli vs Inscore Barth vs Hahn, Hager vs Rubino, and Nusbaum vs Butler

Johns Park 9 Holds Lead In Softball Loop

Johns park did not play last night in the Park league but held onto its half game lead nonetheless

The Johns aggregation won its seventh game in nine starts when only eight Prospect park players showed up North Lake remained in second place with a 10-to-7 victory over the Gorman - Rupp juniors

The G-R youngsters moved into a four-run lead in the first three innings but North Lake tied it up in the last of the third Kindt and Peters, North Lake and Weekly G-R, each had three hits

Australians Getting Old

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — Australia will be faced with a shortage of young men and women for industry for many years, in the opinion of A. A. Calwell, minister for immigration.

Radio Australia quoted the minister as saying it would be 1960 before the country is back to the level of 1937, and by that time the overall population will have increased by two million.

Calwell said in 1940 there were 645,000 people in Australia between 15 and 19. The number has fallen to 558,000 and by 1950 it will drop to 520,000, he said.

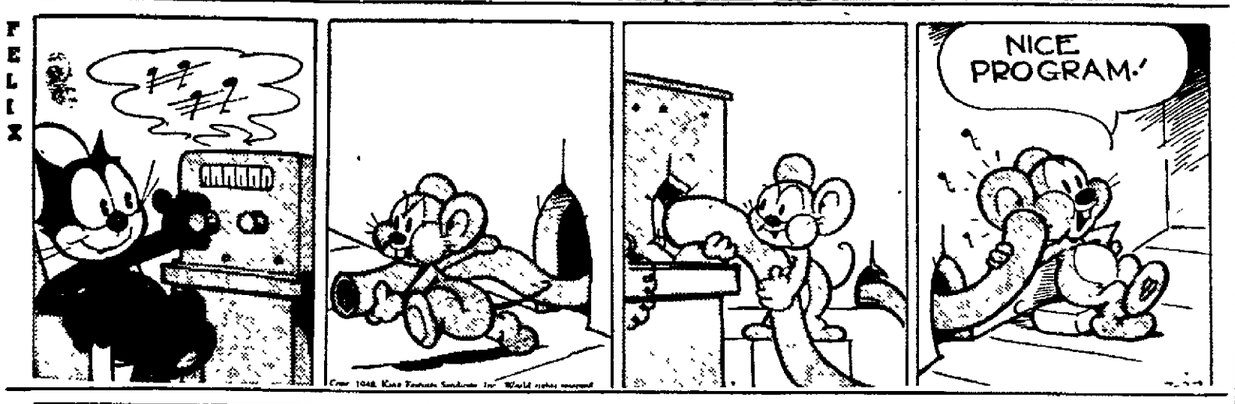
OH...HE'S STARTIN' UP FAST AGAIN... I GOTTA CUT AROUND THEM CARS...
DON'T BE SO RECKLESS, GILDA... YA ALMOST...
PULL OVER!
BUT PLEASE, OFFICER... I'VE GOTTA FOLLA... I MEAN...
RECKLESS DRIVING... EXCEEDING THE SPEED LIMIT... CROSSING THE WHITE LINE...

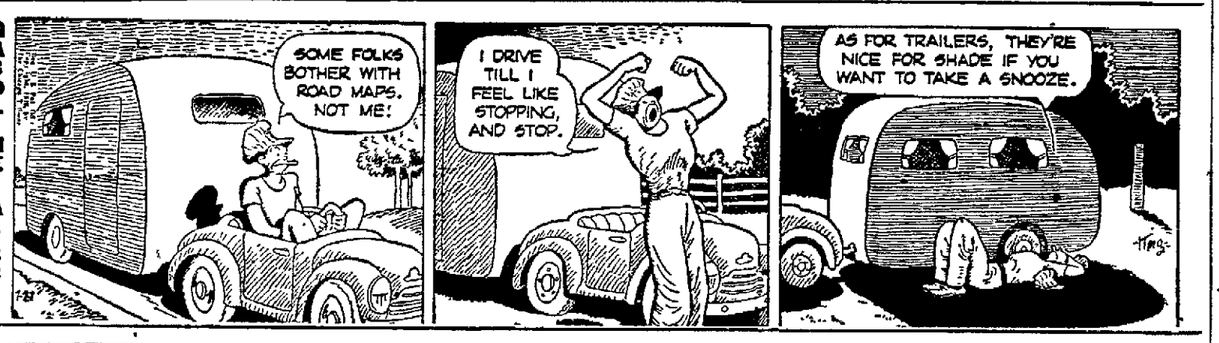
FELIX



TERRY & PIRATES

I'LL NOT LEAVE MY PRICELESS STATUETTE TO FALL INTO THE FILTHY PAWS OF THE BLASTED GUERRILLAS AND VAN GOBLIN'S COPY MIGHT BE USEFUL... THIS BAG WILL DO TO CARRY 'EM IN...
CAN'T RISK POSING AS A GUERRILLA ASSAULT SQUAD MUCH LONGER. SOMEONE MIGHT GET CLOSE ENOUGH TO SEE OUR FACES... BE SAFER IF WE DRIFT TO THE REAR, ONE AT A TIME... TELL VAN GOBLIN TO GO FIRST.

GASOLINE ALLEY

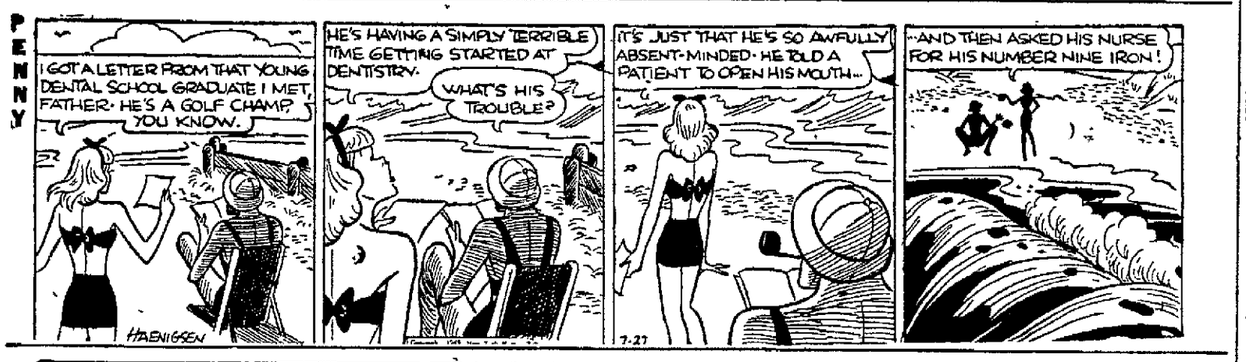


SOME FOLKS BOTHER WITH ROAD MAPS. NOT ME!
I DRIVE TILL I FEEL LIKE STOPPING, AND STOP.
AS FOR TRAILERS, THEY'RE NICE FOR SHADE IF YOU WANT TO TAKE A SNOOZE.

RIP KIRBY

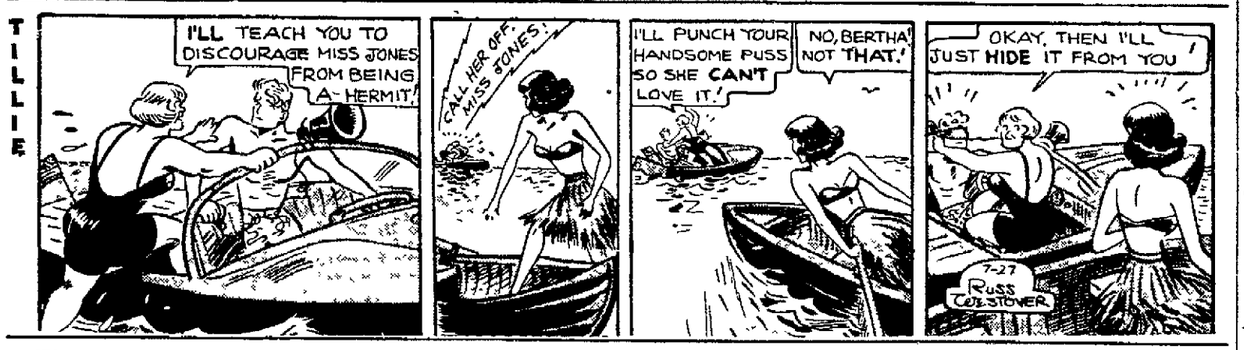
OH, RIP... IS THERE ANY NEWS OF BETYA?
ONLY THIS... SHE DID THE WEST END WITH CARLO... THEY QUARRELLED AT THE LUXOR CLUB, AND SUE SLAPPED HIM. HE MUST HAVE BEEN IN A VICIOUS MOOD WHEN HE BROUGHT HER BACK TO THE HOTEL...
WE KNOW SHE LEFT A SECOND TIME.... PROBABLY IN HER BATHING SUIT. THE CLERK SAYS HE HEARD A CAR DRIVE AWAY. CARLO SAID HE WAS THEN ON HIS WAY HOME.... BUT CARLO LIED!
YOU MEAN IT WASN'T SUICIDE... OR AN ACCIDENT? YOU MEAN.... MURDER?

PENNY



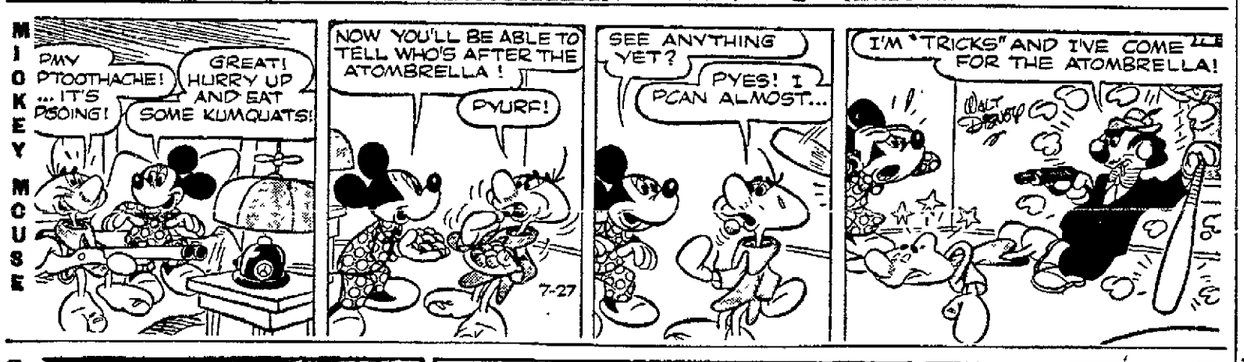
I GOT A LETTER FROM THAT YOUNG DENTAL SCHOOL GRADUATE I MET, FATHER. HE'S A GOLF CHAMP, YOU KNOW.
HE'S HAVING A SIMPLY TERRIBLE TIME GETTING STARTED AT DENTISTRY.
WHAT'S HIS TROUBLE?
IT'S JUST THAT HE'S SO AWFULLY ABSENT-MINDED. HE TOLD A PATIENT TO OPEN HIS MOUTH...
...AND THEN ASKED HIS NURSE FOR HIS NUMBER NINE IRON!
HAENIGSEN

TILLIE



I'LL TEACH YOU TO DISCOURAGE MISS JONES FROM BEING A HERMIT!
CALL HER OFF, MISS JONES!
I'LL PUNCH YOUR HANDSOME PUSS SO SHE CAN'T LOVE IT!
NO, BERTHA! NOT THAT!
OKAY, THEN I'LL JUST HIDE IT FROM YOU
RUSS WESTOVER

MICKEY MOUSE



PMY PTOOTHACHE! ...IT'S PSOING!
GREAT! HURRY UP AND EAT SOME KUMQUATS!
NOW YOU'LL BE ABLE TO TELL WHO'S AFTER THE ATOMBRELLA!
PYURR!
SEE ANYTHING YET?
PYES! I PCAN ALMOST...
I'M "TRICKS" AND I'VE COME FOR THE ATOMBRELLA!

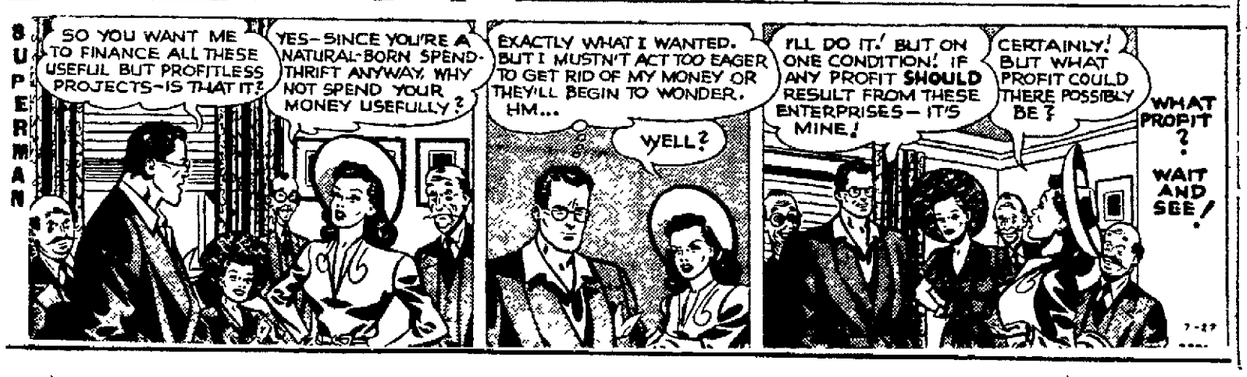
THE GUMPS

THE PUBLICITY PHASE OF MY CAMPAIGN IS OVER.. MY NAME HAS BECOME A BY-WORD TO EVERYBODY IN THE NATION...
SO DID RIN-TIN-TIN'S
...AND NOW I'M GOING INTO HIGH GEAR.. I INTEND TO CHALLENGE EVERY OTHER PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE TO DEBATE ON IMPORTANT ISSUES!
SOMEBODY HAS GOT TO SAVE HIM FROM HIMSELF.. IF ONLY HE'D DEVELOP LARYNGITIS...
PSST! MRS. GUMP, LISTEN!
WHY, TILDA! THAT'S A WONDERFUL IDEA! BUT SUPPOSE HE GETS A NOTION IN HIS BRAIN.. AND...
MRS. GUMP, YOU WORRY ABOUT THE SMALLEST THINGS!

SUPERMAN



SO YOU WANT ME TO FINANCE ALL THESE USEFUL BUT PROFITLESS PROJECTS—IS THAT IT?
YES—SINCE YOU'RE A NATURAL-BORN SPENDTHRIFT ANYWAY, WHY NOT SPEND YOUR MONEY USEFULLY?
EXACTLY WHAT I WANTED. BUT I MUSTN'T ACT TOO EAGER TO GET RID OF MY MONEY OR THEY'LL BEGIN TO WONDER.
WELL?
I'LL DO IT! BUT ON ONE CONDITION! IF ANY PROFIT SHOULD RESULT FROM THESE ENTERPRISES—IT'S MINE!
CERTAINLY! BUT WHAT PROFIT COULD THERE POSSIBLY BE?
WHAT PROFIT? WAIT AND SEE!

French Assembly Approves New Coalition Government

Communists Lose Appeal For Debate

New Premier Wins Support

PARIS —(AP)— The national assembly registered its support of the coalition government of Premier Andre Marie today by a vote of 357 to 197.

The assembly vote rejected a communist request to debate the membership of the cabinet. The rejection thus was an inverse approval of the right of center coalition.

Marie presented his cabinet to President Vincent Aurol last night, the last step before seeking formal approval. Formation of the new government was delayed by the socialists, who objected to inclusion of former Premier Paul Reynaud as finance minister.

Reynaud reportedly has prepared a tough economic recovery program calling for elimination of the 40-hour week and other measures which the socialists fear may cause labor unrest.

The socialist parliamentary group finally agreed by a slim margin, however, to participate in the new government despite the presence of Reynaud.

Georges Bidault, powerful Popular Republican (MRP) leader and former foreign minister, was excluded from the new cabinet. Previously he had been scheduled to become one of three ministers of state.

The new government includes:

Premier: Andre Marie, Radical Socialist.

Vice premiers: Leon Blum, Socialist, and Pierre Henri Teitgen, Mrp.

Ministers of state: Paul Ramadier, Socialist, and Henri Quenille, Radical Socialist.

Justice: Robert Lecourt, Mrp.

Bromfield To Speak

Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield, will be one of the speakers during the first northeastern Ohio Departments of State Exposition to be held at Chippewa lake park, Aug. 4, 5 and 6.

Bromfield will talke on Farmers' Day, Aug. 6, when the Medina County Farmers' picnic is held. His address will be given at the open air theater at the park.

Farmers' Day is one of the three special days planned at the exposition. Wednesday, Aug. 4, has been designated as Governor's Day and will be featured by a talk by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert and a free band concert by the Akron Metropolitan band.

Safety Day will be observed Thursday, Aug. 5, when Brig. Gen. Frank O. Bowman, commanding officer of the U S. Army Supply Depot at Columbus, will address the crowd. The Thursday and Friday programs will close with spectacular fireworks displays.

Informative exhibits, housed in 30 specially erected tents, will be installed by the department of public welfare, Ohio Safety council, aeronautics, safety hygiene, forestry, highway, highway traffic safety, agricultural, conservation, highway patrol, industrial commission, Ohio State Historical Society, public works, Ohio Social Hygiene Council, health, education and the crime detection laboratory.

61 Mansfielders To See Indians

Two buses will take two Mansfield organizations to Cleveland late today to see the Indians-Philadelphia Athletics night game. Approximately 40 members of the Mansfield Real Estate board will substitute the game for their annual outing. They were scheduled to leave late this afternoon for Cleveland and dine outside the city before game time. Making the trip in another chartered bus will be 21 members of the Amima club.

Ex-Teacher Dies at Home In Bucyrus

BUCYRUS — Rites were arranged for this afternoon in the Wise funeral home for Miss Anna Agnes Pfisterer, 80, retired school teacher, who died at her home, 908 Rogers street, Saturday, following a six months illness. Burial was in the Nevada cemetery.

Miss Pfisterer, a former teacher at East Liverpool, came to Bucyrus to make her home 19 years ago.

Born in Cleveland, April 2, 1968, she was the daughter of Christian and Anna Weiler Pfisterer. Survivors are one brother, Arthur, of Bucyrus and three sisters, Miss Mary Emma Pfisterer of Tipp City, Ohio, Miss Irene Pfisterer and Mrs. Louise Beard, both of Bucyrus.

Miss Pfisterer received her education in the Carthage, Ill., normal school and college. She was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church and the Bucyrus Order of Eastern Star.

Plan to Improve Beer Plat Ditch

County commissioners yesterday passed a resolution finding that improvement of the Beer plat ditch is necessary to the public welfare.

The ditch is east of Beal road and north of Ashland road. The county engineer was instructed to make a report on the proposed improvement, at which time a final hearing will be held.

The petition called for either cleanout of the ditch or enclosing of the ditch with 12-inch tile.

Confer Tomorrow On Daniels' Trial Scene

No one here knows anything about the incident to which he (Daniels) refers. "I'll be very glad to have the spot pointed out to me," Glattke added. "I wouldn't tolerate such a thing."

REPLIES TO CHARGE

Concerning Daniels' statement that he had picked potatoes in the "hot sun" at the reformatory, Glattke said:

"We haven't grown potatoes here in the last four or five years. Daniels was never assigned to agricultural work. He worked at the hog farm the entire time he was here. All our potatoes are grown at the Osborn honor farm."

Gov. Herbert, meanwhile, defended employment of former convicts by the state. He upheld the policy after disclosure that three former inmates were employed as guards at the reformatory.

"Certainly without going into any individual case, the state should not hesitate to employ former inmates of institutions when they have been paroled and have established their rehabilitation, any more than it should hesitate to go into private industry and insist upon employment," Gov. Herbert said.

"It is assumed that we have rehabilitated the inmates. If the state doesn't take them, how can we expect private industry to take them?"

Daniels told officials he and West went to the reformatory to "get Willis 'Red' Harris" because he contended Harris had abused him while he was at the reformatory. He said when they failed to find Harris they went to the Niebel home.

Temperature Climbs Again

Summer weather made a welcome return engagement to Mansfield today as the mercury mounted to 82 degrees at noon, giving relief from the gloomy, chilly weather yesterday.

A few scattered showers were expected to fall again tonight in some sections of the state.

Cleveland's drought was ended by a 2.28-inch rainfall yesterday which gave the area almost an inch above-normal rainfall for July. Other points registered only light falls.

The weather bureau's five-day outlook follows:

Temperatures will average two to three degrees below normal. Normal maximum 78-82. Normal minimum 58-61. Warmer Friday or Saturday and cooler Sunday. Precipitation will average one-half to one inch with brief periods of showers or thundershowers on most days.

2 Men Face Action By Grand Jury

Cited On Larceny, Shooting Charges

Charles E. Hutchason, Baltimore, Md., was bound over to the Richland county grand jury under $1,500 bond after he pleaded guilty in municipal court today to a charge of grand larceny.

He is charged with stealing $130 in cash from the home of Floyd Myers, 67 Mendota street, where Hutchason roomed.

Charles Fletcher, 190 Crystal Springs avenue, charged with shooting with intent to wound Mrs. Maebelle Carpenter, of 94 Louis street, pleaded innocent and was bound over to the grand jury under $1,000 bond. The alleged shooting occurred on July 15 while Mrs. Carpenter was standing on the back porch at her home.

Thomas O. Rinehart was fined $125 and costs for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol and was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail. He lost his right to drive for a year for operating while his license was suspended. The court suspended $25 of the fine on condition he pay damages to John Thrall, South Main street.

Earl Reed, Cleveland, was fined $75 and costs for operating while under the influence of alcohol. His driver's license was suspended for six months.

For operating an overloaded motor vehicle, Ernest Kirby, Fairfield, Ala., was fined $10 and costs and Philip Tittle, 224½ North Diamond street, was fined $5 and costs for operating a motor vehicle on a temporary permit, unaccompanied by a licensed driver.

William Wachenschwanz, 67 Bartley avenue, was fined $75 and costs and his license was suspended for six months for leaving the scene of an accident.

Endow Orphan Fund

CRESTLINE — Crestline's Good Hope council of the Daughters of America voted to contribute $50 to the Orphan and Home fund. Mrs. William Scheiber, councilor, presided.

Shelby Seeks Lower Power Plant Costs

SHELBY—In a move designed to hold down the expansion costs of the Municipal Light and Power plant here, city council last night approved plans to inspect the turbine generator unit aboard an ocean vessel.

The unit, offered to the city at a small figure, would make possible the expansion of the power plant at a reduced cost.

Present plans call for an expenditure of more than $847,950 for the proposed expansion program.

If further investigation proves the ocean vessel turbine generator unit adaptable for the city's use it will result in a saving of more than $400,000.

Council designated J. P. Adkins, utilities manager, to accompany J. Emery, the city's engineer, for the inspection. The men will leave some time in the near future.

Union Picket Back In Jail

Forrest Payne, former business agent of Local 758, UE-CIO, in Mansfield, was back in Dayton city jail today after he allegedly attacked a non-striking employe of the Univis Lens company early today while a cordon of police attempted to quell violence in the 83-day old strike.

The Dayton Daily News informed The News-Journal that Payne put up $250 bond yesterday after he was arrested for assault and battery while picketing the plant. Hearing on the charge was set for Aug. 23.

Today, Payne was back in jail on the same charge, along with six other union pickets. Observers said the violence at the plant grew in intensity today as skunk oil was being used again to spray the non-striking workers as they attempted to return to work.

Despite efforts of the strikers to disturb operations, 300 workers were reported to have returned to their jobs today. Workers have until Thursday to return to their jobs or be released from the company payroll.

Newsmen said the Dayton police force had been tripled by the emergency and that 93 uniformed officers were on duty in the city.

Police, Fire Pay Hike In Shelby OK'd

SHELBY—Policemen and firemen in Shelby will get a raise — providing there's enough cash in the city register.

City council, at a closed session last night, approved tentatively wage increases for both the police and fire departments pending a further study of the city's finances.

A financial report will be made at the next session.

The pay hike will be acted upon at that time, it was disclosed. The amount of the increases will also be determined at the next council meeting.

City Awards Repair Job

The city board of control today awarded a contract to the Glasener company for repair and construction work on the municipal garage located at the rear of the city building.

Although the bid of the Glasener company was $6,199, or $290 more than the bid of Edward M. Schuler, Mansfield contractor, the Glasener company was awarded the contract because it promised to start to work immediately, while Schuler indicated a 45-day delay, Service-Safety Earl T. Garrison said.

The work contemplated includes the moving of the fire alarm and traffic signal control equipment from the first floor to the garage on the second floor. The vacated space on the first floor will be used for firemen's lockers.

Progressive Party Power Questionable

Geography Plays Part In Rallies

By HAL BOYLE

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — To put the robust, newborn Progressive party in its proper perspective, it is perhaps pertinent to point out a geographical fact:

The City of Brotherly Love is only one hour and a half by train from New York City.

How much does that explain the new party's impressive vigor?

In Manhattan at any major rally the communist party and its friends can crowd Madison Square garden with 20,000 people.

This is important to remember because veteran political observers expressed amazement at the fact Henry Wallace and Sen. Glen Taylor, his tenor running mate, drew more than 30,000 lovers of a new political music to their doubleheader at Shibe baseball park last Saturday night.

Babe Ruth in his prime hardly did better. But the campaign will reveal whether the Progressive party has astonishing popular strength—or merely was born in a town where all the relatives could get there in time for the baptism.

If the Progressive party could draw 30,000 people to a rally in Kansas City, St. Louis, Cleveland or San Francisco, there would be no doubt that it represented a powerful cross-section of American discontent.

But it could have picked no more strategic birthplace than Philadelphia—one of the nation's largest cities and easily accessible from New York, Baltimore and Washington.

HARD TO JUDGE

This makes it hard to judge whether the huge attendance was chiefly due to an all-out effort by communist and communist-front organizations, or whether it was a spontaneous outpouring of people dissatisfied with the two major political parties.

But the campaign will quickly show whether the strength of Wallace, who disavowed no support by anyone sincerely interested in peace, is largely based on the communists.

In what way? By the attendance at Wallace rallies. Only in the eastern and some western seaboard cities can the communists pack the galleries. Elsewhere the national impact of the Progressive party can be more accurately determined by the people who attend its meetings.

Ten or fifteen thousand Communist party members or fellow travelers might buy a round-trip coach ticket from New York to Philadelphia. But they won't and can't afford to buy one from New York to Kansas City or Denver.

Regardless of the sources of its main power, the Progressive Party has a special vitality rare in American politics. It claims to be a people's party—what party ever didn't?—but it acts like a people's party.

It had representatives of 19 different melting pot nationalities here, and it courted them all. It came out for independence for Pureto Rico and against partition of Ireland. It didn't, however, oppose partition in Palestine. It did favor freeing the American Indian without reservation.

Aside from its appeal to most racial minorities, the founding convention of the Progressive party was noteworthy for the politico-religious fervor of its delegates. They felt they were engaged more in a crusade than a campaign. And they had more fun than people are supposed to have in politics.

"A waitress told me we ate five times as many hot dogs as the Republicans did," said a proud delegate in convention hall.

AND THEN SOME—Westbrook Pegler, King Features Syndicate columnist, smilingly stands by after presenting a check for $3,500, donated by readers, to Mr. and Mrs. James Murray, who lost their savings in buying a worthless bond from an acquaintance of Henry A. Wallace. The sum was $2,500 more than the couple lost. Pegler described their plight in his column of July 2.

DAV to Pick Delegates

The Mansfield chapter No. 21 Disabled American Veterans will choose 10 delegates and 10 alternates to the 27th annual state convention at a meeting Aug. 2 at chapter headquarters.

The convention will be held Aug. 6-8 in Cleveland.

Chapter No. 21 also will cast five votes at the National convention in New York, Aug 15 to Aug. 21.

Commander Gene Sutton of the Mansfield DAV chapter said he did not know of any Mansfield members who will be able to attend the New York convention, but that any member wishing to attend should contact him or the chapter adjutant.

Check Given By Pegler

NEW YORK—An impoverished elderly couple, who lost their life savings of $1,000 in buying a worthless bond from an acquaintance of Henry A. Wallace, today were more than reimbursed.

To them was turned over a check for $3,500, representing contributions sent in by readers of this and other newspapers who had read of their plight in a column written by Westbrook Pegler, King Features Syndicate columnist.

The sum was $2,500 more than had been lost by the couple in their investment and, Pegler said, was part of an expected total of $5,000 when tabulation of donations is complete.

Pegler presented the $3,500 to Mr. and Mrs James Murray of 316 E. 49th St., whose plight he described in his column of July 2. Murray has been an invalid for 30 years.

The bond was sold as an investment in the Roerich Museum, a Joss-house lamasery in which the late Nicholas Roerich, a Russian called "Guru" (God) by his disciples, held sway with incense, gongs and high-class mumbo-jumbo

The 24-floor museum at 103rd St. and Riverside Drive was dedicated with Louis L. Horch as treasurer on Oct 17, 1929, and that was the last ever seen of their $1,000 by the Murrays.

Prices Will Go Higher, Says Clague

Food Follows Seasonal Trend

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Take it from Ewan Clague, the government's No. 1 price expert, the cost of living will climb even higher late this summer.

But there may be a slight drop by fall and winter, he said

Clague, who is commissioner of labor statistics, said in his bureau's monthly review that food prices are due to keep rising into September.

That is a usual seasonal trend, he explained, and the rise in meat prices will be an "important influence."

"This means," he said, "that during the summer months of 1948 the food index would normally rise. Since food has a heavier weight than any other group in the index, this would—other factors being equal—tend to carry the whole index upward."

Clague's aides said the commissioner also looks for wages to set new records in the coming months.

The cost of living last Friday was reported at an all-time high of 171 7 per cent on June 15. The 1935-39 period equals 100 per cent

That means, said Clague, that the average "cost of the market basket" for moderate income families in big cities is now about 70 per cent higher than it was in the 1935-39 base period.

Fast Decline Seen When Break Comes

NEW YORK —(AP)— When prices do start to go down, the decline probably will be a sharp one, the national bureau of economic research said Monday.

The observation is contained in a study of postwar prices made by the bureau and reported by Dr. Frederick C. Mills, professor of economics at Columbia university.

Dr. Mills is a member of the research staff of the bureau, a non-profit organization devoted to scientific and economic research

Underground Arms Factory Rated Atomic Bomb-Proof

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. —(UP)— A huge underground arms plant built here by Smith & Wesson, Inc., was described today as the nearest thing to an atomic bomb-proof factory in the world.

"We cannot say it would withstand an atomic bomb, but we know it would hold up better than any construction of its type now in existence," said Corporation President Carl R. Hellstrom.

Begun three years ago in secrecy, the project is nearly complete, said Hellstrom. He said the new plant would not be used for full production in peacetime but would be large enough to employ "many thousands of workers."

Hellstrom said the factory's reinforced concrete walls and specially designed doors of treated steel make it impervious to ordinary bombs or gas.

It is virtually self-sufficient with its own subterranean electric power plant, sewage system and water supply. Concrete-shafted truck ramps and elevators connect the lower levels with one-story buildings above ground

The entire factory site on the city's outskirts, once a 126-acre swamp, is enclosed by a high wire fence. Two airplane landing strips are being built on part of the site.

Crimes Reveal High Cost of Neglect

THERE'S an old saying, "Strike while the iron is hot," and it is difficult to imagine a time when the iron would be hotter, in the matter of long-neglected prison reform in Ohio than right now—before there is a return of complacency following the murder trail that started on the Ohio State Reformatory farm last Wednesday and ended at the road block near Van Wert two days later, when one Reformatory parolee was shot to death and another captured, after they had killed six persons within two weeks.

Ohio's penal system has been notoriously bad for many years and sporadic efforts to improve it have been defeated by those who argue that the costs of improvements in housing and personnel would be too high.

Yet, in comparison with the frightful cost of negligence, any expenditures required to correct the evils that have grown out of past and present antiquated methods, would seem to be fully justified.

The ancient Ohio penitentiary in downtown Columbus, for instance, is a disgrace to the state and defense of its continued use could only be for permanent incarceration of hardened criminals and as a place for execution of capital offenders.

While the good intentions of those who promoted the idea of the Ohio State Reformatory, slightly more than a half century ago, cannot be doubted, this institution has since become a place for temporary detention of such a conglomeration of various types of law violators as to minimize its intended purpose of reformation.

Some idea of problems facing Reformatory personnel is gained from records of the institution, which show that no more than a third of the inmates are normal; with 14 per cent listed as dullards; 21 per cent as psychdpathic delinquents; 10 per cent as mental defectives; eight per cent as homosexuals; one per cent insane, and a small percentage unclassified.

For the past several years Reformatory Superintendent Arthur L. Glattke has been an earnest champion of a program for betterment of this intolerable situation, and has urged separation of normal prisoners from the various classifications of abnormal, subnormal and degenerate types.

But nothing has been done—nor, it appears, is anything likely to be done soon unless an aroused public sentiment demands legislative and administrative action.

Chief concern, insofar as immediate safeguards being demanded, is for assured strengthening of supervision over parolees after their release from a penal institution, and the fact that such "kill-crazy" characters as Daniels and West were deemed suitable for parole indicates need for the services of a qualified psychiatrist as a part of the classification and parole system at the Reformatory.

Some Motorists Are 'Accident-Prone'

DRIVERS who survive a series of automobile accidents often refer to the careless driving of other motorists, to their own state of health, or to road conditions, as having caused the trouble.

According to a group of psychologists at Northwestern University none of these constitutes the most common reason for the accident habit. They have made studies of accident records and the personalities of a group of commercial drivers.

After having screened out persons with physical or mental defects, they found that drivers with a record of many accidents were usually quick-tempered, impulsive, boastful, and resentful of authority. Those with clean records were conscientious, conservative, thoughtful, and apt to plan an enterprise thoroughly before embarking on it.

Motorists belonging to the accident-prone group might profit by exercising extreme caution when driving, especially as to control of temper and impulse.

Report Discloses Sensible Purchases

THE BRITISH treasury indignantly denies that under the first quarter of aid from the ERP Great Britain received a lot of bubble gum and gimcracks. It seems that communist circles in London have been passing that word around, to give the impression that the hard-earned tax money of the American people was being spent on flippancies and frivolities.

The British treasury, accordingly, has made public a breakdown of the $226,000,000 it is getting for the first three months. The bulk of the commodities are coming from Canada. The Canadian list, adding to $130,850,000, was made up of wheat, flour, bacon, cheese, beef, lead, copper, aluminum, zinc and wood pulp.

From the United States, England bought $55,910,000 worth of cheese, orange juice, tobacco, zinc, sulphur, carbon black, lead and petroleum products. None of these items seems frivolous. They are solid factors in the reconstruction process.

When the Price of Steel Goes Up

MODERN civilization is based on steel. The latest increase in the price of steel, as increases in the past, is likely eventually to boost the cost of all consumer goods, whether directly concerned with steel or not. Steel reaches into every facet of present-day living, from such varied products as small equipment to the most powerful and gigantic machinery man has invented.

Society today is more concerned with steel than were former generations with gold.

Two major airlines in China have suspended operations, explaining they were using up money faster than they could get it—which has a familiar sound.

The Detroit News quips: "The latest on the Indians is that they don't want the country back but would settle for the American League pennant."

What Some Other People Are Saying

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Rex Tugwell Seen as 'Sincere Radical'

WHEN Henry Wallace was secretary of agriculture people who worked closely with him very frequently spoke of him as a mystic. These people included Rex Tugwell, who was Wallace's under-secretary and headed his platform committee at the Philadelphia convention. Tugwell's attachment to Wallace, while of long standing, is not personal in the sense of Hopkins' attachment to Roosevelt. It is based upon a profound intellectual conviction that the country needs the warnings and the teaching which Wallace offers.

Tugwell is one of a very small number who really believe what they profess and are willing to sacrifice a great deal for the right to express their views. In that respect he differs sharply from Wallace—especially the more recent and the more demagogic Wallace.

I would like to offer this opinion of Tugwell's stark sincerity amidst the brick-bats that are going his way since he decided to join the Wallace party. I have some right to an opinion because I have known him a long time and introduced him to Roosevelt in 1932. Roosevelt then established him as an inner adviser.

It might be added that almost alone among those who were thrust into public life, Tugwell has remained friendly to this writer, despite cosmic differences on political and economic policy.

Roosevelt kept Tugwell in public service for many years. The reason for this explains a good deal about Tugwell and about Roosevelt, too. No one had greater power to stir Roosevelt's interest. The Tugwell views were not suitable for a complete pattern of statesmanship. They were too radical, even for Roosevelt; but they were the condiments in the ample Roosevelt diet.

* * *

Tugwell's Great Mistake.

AGAIN and again Tugwell would express regret that Roosevelt was moving too slowly; that he was frittering away his great power on halfway reform; that the summer would end and that nobody would be saved.

This was due to Tugwell's temperament. He has always suffered deeply over the faults and injustices in the nation and the world and has always been pessimistic about things as they are. He has little faith in the present system of business enterprise and he does not believe in the effectiveness of traditional party methods.

Of course, this attitude during the Roosevelt administration earned for Tugwell bitter distrust of both businessmen and politicians. For this reason, whenever a campaign came along, Roosevelt would suppress Tugwell and consort with more orthodox advisers.

But just as a controlled tippler will have his grog after working hours, Roosevelt would summon Tugwell after the campaign for more intellectual stimulation.

Tugwell is no communist. He admires the Russian experiment in domestic affairs, but he would never last in a real communist movement. He would have been purged in Russia long ago.

No doubt, he feels uneasy about the presence of communists in the Wallace party. But since he is politically naive, he thinks they have something to offer and that their program can be sampled, not followed.

In this respect Tugwell, as well as Wallace, makes a profound mistake. There can be no communist half loaves. Ultimately, communists will control or destroy. That alternative the Wallace party will have to face, if it lives beyond the present campaign.

Restoring the Home

By ELSIE ROBINSON

ONE of the results of the war, which still presents a problem and a challenge, is the shortage of goods which formerly could be had by anyone who had the price. Now, long after everyone thought recovery would be complete, it is still practically impossible to obtain some things and other products are priced so high that they are beyond the reach of the average citizen.

Production—that was the glory of American industry a few years ago. Anything that was in common use was turned out by the million and for a good many things that were not in demand a market was created by flam-buoyant advertising, and then these things too were manufactured in huge quantities.

But did they make life really better?

Unquestionably the present shortage of housing, for instance, causes much discomfort and even misery; but is it so tragic that we cannot all have new automobiles, television sets, deep freezers and automatic washing machines?

Actually what was the effect of all the hectic production of gadgets before the war and long before that? What did it do to the human race?

* * *

IN GRANDMOTHER'S time the home was an industrial center. Human needs were ministered to right in the home, not by streamlined bakeries, laundries, clothing factories. Everyone had plenty to do at home and was happy in doing it.

But under the guise of lightening the burden of the housewife, men turned their ingenuity to be pleasant and lucrative business of taking industry out of the home.

At great profit to themselves they devised highly efficient equipment which made housekeeping so easy that it was no longer a burden. No longer did women slave all day over a hot stove; no longer was the family washing an arduous, all day job; no longer were women occupied every minute of a sixteen-hour day at household chores.

That's all very fine insofar as it released women from soul deadening drudgery. But now that women are no longer household slaves, what did they become and what became of the home?

The whole family was invited to spend as much time as possible away from home by the multiplicity and comparative cheapness of automobiles. For young people the home was scarcely more than a place to sleep and eat.

There were movies where a natural yen for excitement was turned into unhealthy channels. There were country inns and auto camps which encouraged loose morals. Youngsters acquired a taste for fast living as the means for gratifying it multiplied.

Science and invention, prompted by greed, have robbed us of the greatest character building force in the world—the happy home. Science and invention don't teach character. Character is acquired with infinite pains through industry, hardship and self denial.

We cannot and would not bring back the days of the washboard, home churned butter, the wood stove and home made soap, but we'd better restore the home to its rightful place as the cradle of civilization and right living. Or civilization will truly be lost.

Dave Boone Says:

HENRY WALLACE and Glen Taylor accepted their prefabricated nominations in a baseball park and it was one of the best exhibitions in left field that any diamond ever saw.

* * *

I hear most of the ball clubs had agents on hand scouting the convention proceedings for southpaw pitchers. They never saw so much material.

* * *

Henry Wallace made a speech in which he promised everybody four strikes, limited bases on balls exclusively to New Dealers, and guaranteed every follower the right to steal second with the bases full.

* * *

He made everything clear. The United States is alone to blame for all the trouble in Germany, Russia is all in from trying to settle things peacefully, and it's a great mistake to prepare for a possible war. And if he was president, he would sit down with Joe and confer the world into a state of bliss.

As Cerf Tells It

An actor applied for a job in Billy Rose's new show at the Diamond Horseshoe. He was only slightly over five feet in height, but still he towered over the pint-sized impresario. "What's your specialty?" asked Billy. "Mr. Rose," the actor assured him gravely, "I am a midget."

Rose chased him with a baseball bat.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

How Uncontrolled Prices Have Zoomed

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—President Truman got some interesting suggestions on the Berlin crisis the other day from James Patton, rugged boss of the National Farmers Union, who urged him to "do something dramatic."

"If I were President," blurted the Rocky Mountain farmer, "I would call Premier Stalin on the phone, tell him we had a bad situation on our hands and say I wanted to meet him in Berlin to talk it over."

"Jim," the President smiled, "I can't be dramatic. I'm not the dramatic type."

But he assured the farm leader that "ways can be worked out" to settle the explosive Berlin question without war.

Patton had one more question on the international situation.

"How close," he asked solemnly, "are we to war?"

The newspapers, Truman replied, have overplayed the Berlin tension. The Russians, he was convinced, do not want war.

"And we certainly don't want war," added the President.

Note: Patton also told the President that, while Congress had passed farm price supports, it was only the beginning of a long-range farm program. The farmers needed other measures, such as soil conservation, rural electricity, aid to rural schools, etc.

"Well, I'll certainly keep plugging for you," Truman promised.

* * *

Why Housewife Worries.

IT HAS now been exactly two years since the Congress of the United States, after hot and hectic debates in the month of July, 1946, voted to sabotage price controls.

Here are the official figures showing the difference between controlled prices and uncontrolled prices since the end of OPA:

Price of meat—Upped 91 per cent since May 15, '46.

Rents — Which remain under controls, increased only 7.6 per cent.

Gas and electricity — Regulated by state and municipal commissions, have increased only 2 per cent.

General food prices—Have gone up 214.1 per cent over the 1935-39 average.

Words certain statesmen would like to forget (made during the OPA debates two years ago):

Sen. Kenneth Wherry, Nebraska Republican—"Taft! Taft! Everybody's talking about what Taft has done to OPA. I'm the fellow that knocked out meat control, and I've done more to that bill than anybody else."

Rep. John Taber, New York Republican—"OPA is at the present time the chief promoter of inflation."

Sen. Robert Taft, Ohio Republican — "Prices somewhat higher than normal tend to increase production. We certainly should not force such a reduction of prices as to interfere with more production."

Rep. Reid F. Murray, Wisconsin Republican—"I do not care to vote for any more money for the OPA and thus increase the dangers of starvation . . . Chester Bowles and the other agencies are there to keep businessmen from making a profit."

Rep. Henry D. Larcade Jr., Louisiana Democrat — "(OPA) was run in a highhanded, dictatorial and discriminating manner, treating not only the members of Congress but the people of the country as a whole with disdain, disrespect and discourtesy."

Rep. Jessie Sumner, Illinois Republican — "Subsidies are just OPA's black-market way of concealing the fact the cost of living is going up and up and your money is buying less and less and less."

Rep. William Lemke, North Dakota Republican—"Today the question is should the OPA be liquidated—abolished? My answer is that it should never have been created. It is an un-American, illegitimate child. It was born of foreign parentage."

Rep. Carl T. Curtis, Nebraska Republican — "(OPA) is a sham and a fraud. It is one of the prime causes of inflation."

Rep. Edward O. McCowen, Ohio Republican — "Let us make the break now, and then let the price-control act die its natural death. There will be confusion for a few months . . . Then confusion will end, prices will be stabilized and production will be normal and sufficient."

* * *

Corporation Gravy.

WHILE the cost of food to the housewife has zoomed, here is what's happened to the dividends of big corporations.

The figures were presented recently by plain-talking Democratic Senator Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming, as compiled from the Federal Reserve Board and various banking reports, as follows:

Profits of 100 corporations after taxes:

1940—$1,875,000,000.
1945—$1,943,000,000.
1947—$3,730,000,000.

O'Mahoney also cited a Federal Reserve Board report, stating that business profits this year will exceed the dizzy high of 1947. Pointing to individual corporations which have shared in this bonanza, he reported that General Electric Co., is now making profits in excess of 20 per cent of net worth, General Motors 19.9 per cent, U. S. Steel, 10 per cent.

The 1947 profits of General Electric, before taxes were paid, were five times greater than its 1939 profits, O'Mahoney charged.

Meanwhile, he declared, wage increases have been obliterated by inflated living costs, as evidenced by the fact that American consumers are paying $37,000,000,000 more for what they buy this year than in 1946.

* * *

Silver Cure-All.

SEVERAL bills buried in the hectic closing days of the last congressional session, will be dusted off again for attempted passage at the special session. One of them, introduced by the silver lobby, would solve all the nation's problems by putting silver on an equal footing with gold.

As old as William Jennings Bryan, the bill proposes that the United States peg its currency on a double, gold-and-silver standard.

Viewing the National Scene

Unkept Pledges of 1944

By THOMAS L. STOKES

THE BOLD, taste-of-victory spirit of Republican leaders after their Philadelphia convention seems to have wilted under the first challenge to the party which came, unexpectedly, in President Truman's call for a special session of Congress to do something that its Republican managers thus far have neglected.

Instead of seizing the opportunity made for them by the President, they have exhibited a tendency to dodge behind such excuses as that of Governor Dewey's campaign manager, Herbert Brownell, that the party should wait until it wins the White House and assumes complete control of the government before acting on the program pledged in its platform, or the more illusory alibi of Rep. Clarence Brown of Ohio that the party is under no obligation to carry out its 1948 platform until after the election reveals whether the voters prefer this or the Democratic platform.

This looks like a grabbing at very weak straws.

It would appear to be quibbling on a flimsy technicality. For both party platforms are in agreement on such necessary measures as housing, aid to education, extension of social security and civil rights, to name a few among outstanding issues, so the voter has no choice there.

They also agree generally on other problems that should be met, though differing on method, as, for example, health and medical aid.

Some measures on which they agree, notably housing and aid to education, are so far advanced in Congress, the Senate having approved both, that very little time and work still are necessary to get them through the House and make them law.

If this action is not completed, then these measures must start all over again in the next Congress, so that valuable time will be lost. The public will understand that.

* * *

What Public Understands

THE PUBLIC also understands something else — and from cruel current experience — which is the need to do something about inflation, perhaps the biggest issue of all just now. There is a feeling that this cannot wait several months for another Congress.

It is unlikely that the public generally can appreciate the fine distinctions about when a party platform does or does not apply and it might very well look upon the resort to technicalities as, of itself, a species of "playing politics," which is the accusation made by Republicans against President Truman.

But it is not even necessary to quibble about whether the 1948 platform applies now or after the election. The Republican party wrote a platform in 1944 which presumably, under the rule laid down by Rep. Brown, may properly be taken as a mandate. That platform carries ample authority for proposals of President Truman for the special session.

On the subject of housing that 1944 platform advocated:

The stimulation of state and local plans to provide decent low cost housing properly financed by the federal housing administration, or otherwise, when such housing cannot be supplied or financed by private sources."

That describes the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill which has passed the Senate and is bottled up now in the House rules committee.

There is plenty for the Republican party to do in this special sesson of Congress to catch up on the 1944 platform, without even bothering about what it promised at Philadelphia this year.

Our Harvest Evening

By CALVIN A. BYERS

YESTERDAY the combine swished across our fields of wheat and rye and this morning the elevator sent out a truck to haul away the grain. Only a few hours of hectic motion, and harvest was over on our farm.

The young boys spread a blanket and held the sacks beneath the spout of the big hopper, after every few rounds. Then the combine raced on around the field, leaving the boys to tie the bags.

Guests arrived from Washington, D. C., and we all sat beneath the maples and watched the finish of the work. When the neighbor had driven his combine out of the field, we had supper from trays under those same maples . . . the coolest place on our farm. Then we sat talking until after the moon came up, with the friends whom we had not seen for nearly 20 years.

The moon was round and full, with a single metallic star spinning a line about it. The soft green woods along our hills was veiled in silvery fog. The pleasing, odorous breeze brought the scent of grain, the odor of tasseling corn; an owl spoke from the distant woods; the cool spring bubbled out from the sandstone hill; the children's babble gave accent to the oldsters' reminiscent conversation.

Perhaps worth recording was the cheerful freedom of the scene. We seemed far away from the hurry and bustle of city streets. Even the radio was out of earshot.

Here in this little space of moonlight, we shared short silences with old friends while the fireflies rose over the wheat stubble and the familiar earth about us seemed as beautiful as a dream.

I suppose it is true that a man can own only what he can enjoy. If mere enjoyment is the magic key to ownership, then there need be no poor among us. "The earth is so full of a number of things . . . it seems we should all be as happy as kings."

Anyway, given a harvest moon, a familiar cool spot beneath a big maple, the knowledge that the crops are in the bag, and an unexpected visit with old friends, we add it up to an evening to be long remembered.

A Modern Cave of Adullam.

One of the interesting but brief third party movements in American history was organized early in 1864 under the sponsorship of various radicals. Its convention met in Cleveland in advance of the Republican convention that renominated Lincoln, and of the Democratic convention that nominated General George B. McClellan. The delegates were sore on the world.

When Lincoln heard that some 350 persons were present he picked up his Bible, opened to I Samuel, chapter xxii, and read aloud about the crowd that assembled with David in the cave of Adullam—"Everyone who was in distress and everyone who was discontented gathered themselves unto him: and he became a captain over them: and there were with him about 400 men."

But of course there are marked differences between David and the cave of Adullam, and Wallace and Convention hall in Philadelphia. In the cave of Adullam there were only 400 men, whereas in Philadelphia Wallace had several thousand malcontents.—Kansas City Times.

Bullet Kills Ex-Gangster

Attacker Slays Bernie Shelton

PEORIA—(U.P.)—Bernard (Bernie) Shelton, a member of the notorious Shelton gang which terrorized southern Illinois during the Prohibition era, was shot and killed in ambush in front of his tavern near here Monday.

He was killed by a bullet which hit him in the chest. He died shortly after arrival at a hospital.

Police had no information about the killer. Near the tavern is a high hill and police theorized that the killer lay in wait for Shelton on or near the hill and shot him as he was about to enter or leave the tavern.

Shelton used the tavern called the Parkway, as his headquarters. A. L. Hunt, proprietor of a drive-in stand across the street, said he heard a shot and looked out to see Shelton slump down in front of the tavern.

An ambulance driver said that Shelton was conscious when picked up, but died shortly after he was brought into St. Francis hospital. It was not known immediately whether Shelton made any statement.

Shelton, 50, was the second member of his family killed in ambush in nine months. His brother, Carl, a 59-year-old farmer, was shot and killed by machine-gunners near his farm at Fairfield, Ill., last Oct. 23.

Carl was the leader of a gang which during its heyday battled rivals with tanks, armored cars and an airplane, causing the deaths or injuries of scores of persons.

Shelton was involved in gunplay at the tavern a few weeks ago. He was under indictment on charges of assault and battery growing out of the fracas.

Police said Shelton generally had been regarded as head of organized slot machine operations in Pecria county.

YMCA Group To See Game In Cleveland

More than 90 boys, drivers and counselors of the Mansfield YMCA will be guests of the Cleveland Baseball club and President Bill Veeck Saturday at the Indians-Red Sox game.

Transportation will be provided in private automobiles whose drivers will meet at the "Y" Wednesday at 7 p. m. for briefing and arrangements for the trip.

All the boys, drivers and counselors are requested to pack their lunches and assemble at the "Y" at 8:30 a. m. Saturday. The group will leave at 9 a. m. and will arrive at the Cleveland stadium about 12:30 p. m.

Only boys who have registered for the trip will be permitted to go. Registrations must be made by tonight.

McGregor Minimizes War Threat

J. Harry McGregor, congressman from the 17th district, of which Richland county is a part, thinks war with Russia is not as imminent as the State department would have the public believe.

Speaking in Washington, D. C., McGregor sharply criticized the State department and said, "I believe the trouble isn't as serious as we have been led to believe and with careful handling it may be cleared to everyone's satisfaction."

"It is to be regretted," McGregor declared, "that the ground, land and air corridors were neglected by the State department when the Yalta conference was held. This present trouble with Soviet Russia is a direct result of careless negotiations."

McGregor returned to Washington to be on hand for the reconvening of the 80th Congress.

MISS JANE SNEERINGER TO BE BRIDE OCT. 16

Ceremony to Be at 9:30 A. M. In St. Peter's Church; Msgr. R. C. Goebel to Officiate.

OCTOBER 16 is the date chosen by Miss Jane Sneeringer for her marriage to H. Elmer Berger. The ceremony will take place in St. Peter's Roman Catholic church at 9:30 a. m. with Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiating.

Miss Sneeringer is the daughter of R. E. Sneeringer, 501 Sloane avenue, and Mr. Berger is the son of Mrs. Mary E. Berger, 240 Superior street.

MISS SNEERINGER

Mrs. Richard Kramer, sister of the bridegroom, has been chosen to serve as matron of honor. The niece of the bride, Miss Patricia Walsh, will be the junior bridesmaid.

Ray Dillon, friend of the couple, will serve as best man.

Miss Sneeringer is a graduate of Mansfield Senior High school and is employed at the Citizen's National Bank. Mr. Berger was graduated from St. Peter's Catholic High school. He is an employe of the Robert Walsh Sound.

First Church Society Meets

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist church met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. C. R. Conneway, Park avenue west road. Mrs. Charles Tucker and Mrs. Robert Hergatt assisted.

Nineteen members and three guests heard the program which included a talk by W. M. Bonnell about his experience in the mission field in South America.

Mrs. J. Campbell White spoke on the subject, "Women of India." She is a missionary who has recently returned from that country.

Miss Bessie Bell led the devotional period.

August 23, Circles 6 and 7 will act as joint hostesses for a picnic supper for the society at South park at 6:30 p. m.

When cream is to be whipped for a dessert topping allow 2 to 3 tablespoons of sugar and ¾ to 1 teaspoon of vanilla for one cup of cream.

Announcement Party Given

Mansfield friends of Miss Kathryn Bonnell learned of her engagement and appoaching marriage to Roy Reynard at a party given recently by Mrs. Beatrice Reynard Lucas, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

The double ring service will be solemnized by the Rev. R. W. Slater in a closed ceremony at the Lucas Foursquare Gospel church at 7:30 p. m., Aug. 11.

Miss Helen Bonnell will be her sister's maid of honor and Herman Reynard will attend his brother as best man. Miss Isabelle Reynard will be the vocal soloist. Ushers will be Rondabelle Warner and Roy Fyffe.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Laura Bonnell of near Newville. She attended school in Perrysville and is now employed by the Hartman Electric company here. Her fiance attended schools in Lucas and is employed by the Richland Shale Brick company here. His father is John H. Reynard, Huron.

Guests at the party had anticipated the nuptial announcement and took a shower of miscellaneous gifts for the betrothed couple. Mrs. Elizabeth Balliet and N. O. Good provided string music during the evening. Games and contests were the diversion and Miss Wanda Harris, Perrysville, was a prize winner.

Attractiveness Depends On Cleanliness, Daintiness

By HELEN JAMES (MME. QUI VIVE)

CLEANLINESS and daintiness! There you have the two main elements in the composition of attractiveness and good looks. Unless one possesses them, down to the last detail of personal hygiene and attire, the beauty game is lost. Excessive perspiration is a sore trial not only to those who are afflicted with it, but to those who come in contact with it. It is an unpleasant subject to write about. But there are means of overcoming it—unless it is the result of some physical disorder—and these means should be employed.

To avoid this condition a woman should bathe daily, scrub her entire body surface with a heavy brush and soap and water, finishing with a quick shower, either tepid or cold. Undies must be changed frequently, stockings every day. Coats and frocks must make regular pilgrimages to the dry cleaners. And a deordorant, or deterrent, should be used in the armpits. Some of the afflicted ones are not aware of the dreadful odor they carry with them. By obeying hygienic rules they will be playing safe.

Body odor may be evidence of an unstable nervous system. Sweating palms are traced directly to nervousness. Although there are effective local remedies the victim will need to set her physical house in order. She must have gentle exercise out of doors, long hours of sleep, a simple diet that is varied and nutritious. Also she must drink plenty of water. All the various avenues of elimination must function normally—lungs, skin, intestinal tract and kidneys.

At cosmetic counters she will find relief in several forms—powders, creams, lotions. Physicians agree that there is no danger in using these preparations. Even if the pores in the armpits are completely closed, perspiration will find an outlet elsewhere among the thousands of sweat glands that carry away salty wastes.

Rapid tissue waste takes place when weight reducing is too hurried. The caloric-counter and the candidate for slenderness must be on her guard.

The salt glow is recommended. Moisten a bowlful of table salt, stand in the bathtub, friction the crystals into the flesh all over the body surface. Then have an alternating hot and cold shower, finishing with a brisk rubdown and a friction with borated talcum.

Konig-Knapp Nuptials Are Solemnized

In a quiet ceremony in St. Peter's Roman Catholic church, Miss Elizabeth Konig became the bride of Joseph A. Knapp. Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiated for the single ring ceremony. The wedding vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with two altar vases filld with pink gladioli and two seven-branched candelabra.

The ceremony was performed at 8:15 a. m. Saturday.

Miss Konig is the daughter of Michael Konig, 258 Grace street, and Mr. Knapp is the son of Mrs. Clara Knapp, Lexington Springmill road.

Raymond Baum officiated at the organ for the prenuptial music.

The bride carried a white orchid on a prayer book. Her costume was a white summer gaberdine suit with white accessories.

Mrs. Mathias Mitsch, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a teel blue suit with white accessories. She had a pink rosebud corsage.

Mrs. Knapp chose a black dress with black accessories for her son's wedding. She wore a white rosebud corsage.

Mathias Mitsch, brother-in-law of the bride, was the best man.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. Twenty-five guests were present. The table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake. Pink gladioli decorated the house.

After a honeymoon through the eastern states, Mr. and Mrs. Knapp will reside at 258 Grace street. Mrs. Knapp wore a blue dotted dress with blue accessories for her wedding trip. She wore the corsage used during her ceremony.

The bride attended St. Peter's high school. The bridegroom is employed at the Mitsch Body and Fender shop.

Jeanie Wentz Is Honoree

Miss Marjorie Wentz was hostess for 20 guests at her home, 478 West Fourth street, Sunday, at the announcement party of her sister, Miss Jeanie Wentz.

The table was centered with daisies. A yellow satin ribbon was draped across the table inscribed with "Daisies Do Tell. Jeanie and Jim. Aug. 21—3:30 p. m." Mrs. W. H. Kerman, mother of the bridegroom, presided at the punch bowl.

Out-of-town guests present at the party were from Dayton.

The wedding will take place in St. Luke's Lutheran church Aug. 21 at 3:30 p. m. The Rev. H. S. Garnes will officiate.

Miss Wentz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Wentz, 478 West Fourth street, and is the bride-elect of James Kerman, son of Mrs. W. H. Kerman, Dayton.

'Alaska' Is Guild Topic

The United Presbyterian Guild convened Monday night in the home of Mrs. Clara Kirchofer, 242 Ruth avenue. Miss Martha Sauder was the associate hostess.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Fred Proctor and the program was given by Miss Lucille Day. Her subject was "Alaska" and she based her talk on the book, "On Our Own Doorstep" by Frank S. Mead.

Mrs. Lynn Robenstine, vice president, conducted the business session after which the hostesses served a lunch.

The next meeting will be Aug. 30 at 8 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Jack Anthony, Ashland road.

For a quick-get-together salad arrange a generous mound of creamy cottage cheese in the center of a large salad plate. Surround the cheese with alternating wedges of juicy ripe tomatoes and canned cling peach slices. Serve chilled with mayonnaise and thin slices of nutbrown melba toast.

Parents Should Discourage Tot's Bedtime Attention-Getting Stunt

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

MANY youngsters from fifteen months to four or five years of age hit on a way of bringing the parent to them, after going to bed almost as often as they wish. Some children keep it up for half an hour, an hour or longer, night after night. They will call for a drink, say they want to ask a question or tell something, or have another good-night kiss When "all helpers fail and comforts flee," they need to go to the toilet. Often the tyke will keep awake thinking of new ways to bring the mother or father to him.

I am personally familiar with this problem, for our eldest son, when very young, was practiced in this clever art long before we, his parents, awoke to what was happening and applied corrective measures. I have learned that his own little children have worked the same trick on their parents for a period of time. It's a wonderful attention-getting stunt.

If you face this problem tell your child, calmly, as he prepares for bed tonight that you are not coming back. Don't tell him not to call. Just command yourself not to answer his call, unless you feel sure he is in distress. After you have gone through with the usual "ritual," name all the things which have been done. Ask the child if there is anything else, reminding him that you are not coming back. Then go and keep your word.

No use to try this plan if the child is likely to get out of bed and come to you. First establish control by day. If you have the slightest suspicion of fear in him, leave his door ajar, with a dim light on outside it. Once or twice you might well walk by his door "on an errand," coughing, whistling or singing, to assure him you are around.

But what about his request to go to the toilet? If he is not old enough to go alone take him just once after he has gone to bed. Even at the risk of an "accident" this may be justified, since your purpose is to settle the bedtime nuisance now. You may have to lose a bit in one direction in order to gain in another. (My bulletin, "Sleep Problems: Their Prevention and Correction" may be had in a stamped envelope.)

A mother writes: "One of our four boys, the seven year old, was becoming increasingly and exasperatingly slow in dressing for school, with the result that I had to rush out of the house at bus time. My husband suggested that instead of saying, 'Hurry' to him, we try out your idea of letting him stay home from school and spend a goodly portion of time in a chair. The results were amazing."

Another mother writes: "Your suggestions are really workable ones. For example, sitting in a chair is most effective. I heartily agree with you on the importance of teaching the child the meaning of 'No' (used seldom), and of teaching him to help at home, reading to the child, and so many other ideas of yours . . . Having found the modern trend so confusing, I wish to thank you for having reached what I consider a perfect balance between the old-fashioned method of discipline without understanding the child, and the progressive method of understanding without discipline."

Green cabbage is delicious when cut in wedges, steamed and served with a cheese sauce. It may be made into a satisfying luncheon dish by adding strips of crisply cooked bacon.

MRS. R. E. BARR

Return After Wedding Trip

After a honeymoon at Indian River in northern Michigan Mr. and Mrs. Rollin E. Barr are residing temporarily with the bride's father, Earl W. Logan, 465 Logan road. The bride was Miss Mary Janice Logan and the couple was married in the First English Lutheran church at 7:30 p. m. July 17. The Rev. Olan Aughbaugh officiated.

Mr. Barr is the son of Mrs. Gladys Barr, 291 South Main street.

Mrs. Clayson Bell presided at the organ during the musicale of nuptial airs. The couple stood before an altar decorated with two beauty baskets filled with flowers which stood before a background of palms and ferns. Two seven-branched candelabra held tapers which illuminated the scene.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She was wearing a pink eyelet embroidered dress of ballerina length fashioned with a Sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves. Her only jewelry was a pair of white sapphire clips. The white headdress was of artificial flowers and white veiling. White carnations and pink roses composed her bouquet which was tied with white satin ribbon.

Miss Dorothy Sprunger was the bride's only attendant and she was wearing a blue dress fashioned identically to that of the bride. Her headdress was of blue flowers and veiling which was fastened under the chin. Her bouquet was of baby mums and pink carnations and was tied with pink satin ribbon.

The bridegroom's mother wore a black and white print dress and her corsage was of white carnations.

Melvin E. Welty was Mr. Barr's best man. Ushers were Robert L. Logan, brother of the bride, and Mervin C. Barr, the bridegroom's brother.

A reception was held at John's Park after the ceremony and 100 guests were greeted by the couple. The bride's table was decorated with a tiered wedding cake, flowers and candles. Mrs. Robert L. Logan and the Misses Donna Dillon and Norma Stewart assisted with the serving.

Mrs. Barr was graduated from Madison High school and her husband from Lucas High school. She is employed—by Scattergood and Son, Inc., and Mr. Barr is an employe of the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

Rev. Hagelbarger Performs Marriage Rite For Couple

THE Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, pastor of the First Christian church, officiated Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock for the marriage of Miss Esther Marie Hoffman, 27 Granite street, and Charles Raymond Russell, 271 Vennum avenue.

The ceremony was performed in the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Miller Russell, at the Vennum avenue address. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Hoffman, R. D. 6.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She was wearing a lime colored two-piece suit and white accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

Miss Eileen M. Hoffman attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a two-piece dress of blue and her corsage was of pink roses. Miss Hoffman resides at 598 McPherson street.

The bride's mother chose a pink dress and black accessories for the wedding and white roses composed her corsage. Mrs. Miller was wearing a green frock and white accessories and her corsage was of red roses.

James Roy Russell was his brother's best man.

The reception was given in the afternoon at the home of the bridegroom's parents. The family and close friends were in attendance.

When the couple left for a honeymoon through the eastern states the bride was wearing a pink dotted swiss frock and brown accessories. When they return they will reside temporarily with the bridegroom's parents.

Mrs. Miller attended school at Springfield township and her husband at Upper Sandusky. She is employed by the Westinghouse Electric corporation and he by the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

AN Isaly BLUE RIBBON BOY
Bruce Rowland Miller

Isaly's Homogenized Milk is a "regular" with Bruce, who next week will be 17 months. This rich, creamy tasting milk delights tiny appetites, first, because it has a delicious flavor and second, because it digests so easily and agrees with tummies. To your children, these advantages can mean extra mealtime enjoyment and extra body-building nourishment. Why not give your children the advantages of Isaly's Homogenized Milk beginning tomorrow?

Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk is available from your neighborhood Isaly milkman, at your grocer's, at Isaly Dairy Stores. Telephone 4217-6 for home delivery service.

Dorothy Kilgallen

Voice of Broadway

Notes on an Electric Typewriter:

Showgirls and chorines suddenly have started to adore the drugstore in the Park Central Hotel. The reason: the soda jerk, Edward Young, is 6 feet 3 and looks a lot like Gregory Peck. . . . Financial note: Bobo Rockefeller beats Winthrop regularly at gin rummy. . . . Ronald Regan is taking more than a brotherly interest in Nancy Duke, a bit player at his studio.

Anne Sterling is threatening to cast herself as an Argentine millionairess. The lad's name is Jorge de Mandilla, and she'll vacation in Buenos Aires to meet his family. . . . Chic Johnson of Olsen and Johnson, lost 25 pounds in England because of the food situation. MGM is begging Johnny Johnston to settle that suit with his ex-wife out of court—but Johnny and current wife Kathryn Grayson are all for battling it through the headlines.

Hollywood insiders hear George Stevens was offered Dore Schary's post at RKO by boss Howard Hughes, but turned it down. . . . One of Broadway's finest young actors, playing in a small hit, has his pay picked up every week by his dad. The lad is a "soft touch," and papa is protecting him from backstage borrowers.

Playboy Fred Chandler, currently vacationing in South Carolina, made sure Alma Landau, the red-headed Barbizon model, wouldn't forget him while he was away—his last gift before he took the train was a live baby alligator!

Doris Dowling, now in Italy with her sister, Constance, is reported on the verge of marrying a titled Italian. . . Two film stars are backing a fantastic new machine for home use which features a small but very thick record that flashes animated pictures of artists on a screen, with the animation synchronized to the vocalizing on the record.

The young blonde and beautiful hostess at La Guardia Field who has cover-girl aspirations actually calls herself Available Jones. . . . Mickey Rooney's newest date is Micky (spelled that way) Crandall.

Jean McCormack, who pulled Lynn Merrick's hair over a fella last winter, almost came to blows with Pat Coogan over the affections of bandleader Van Smith just before she sailed for Europe.

Marion Hutton and Don McGuire are a sultry combination. . . . "Way of a Fighter," the memoirs of Major General Claire Chennault, will be published in September. Red faces in the Pentagon will result.

An epidemic in measles has hit the midtown sector. Doctors suspect the origin is children from Europe, so many cases have cropped up in local hotels. . . . While Peggy Hopkins Joyce is in Europe she'll try to sell the island she owns off the south of France. . . . Frank Sinatra is a neutritis victim. Hopes to bake it out in the western sun.

Screen actress Janet Blair, appearing in the June Lockhart role in "For Love or Money" at the Montclair summer theatre was tickled at the coincidence when she found the character she portrays in the play is called Janet Blake.

She'll be even more amused to learn that F. Hugh Herbert had originally christened his character Janet Blair and changed it to avoid confusion long before he ever dreamed she'd inherit the role.

Clark Gable turned down a big offer to write his war memoirs. They'd be too tame, he feels. . . . RKO scripters are all submitting ideas for Jack Beutel, the young actor. He hasn't worked since "The Outlaw," but still gets a big salary from Howard Hughes every week.

Willie Howard, the comedian, is taking an unusual kind of vacation—just walking the streets of New York He shuns the famous Broadway haunts, strolls the side streets, and spends a lot of time having his shoes shined and talking to bootblacks. Says it's most relaxing, too.

Prince Youka Troubetzkoy has been tying up the transatlantic phones, trying to persuade Boston lass Julie Stickler to join him in Cannes.

Those men you see measuring camera angles in dozens of the local night spots are technicians for Pioneer Pictures, surveying the bistros for protographic and lighting possibilities. At least a dozen cafes will be used—under their real names—in "The Broadway Story."

Charlie Foy and Mary Lewis (her father owns slews of oil wells) are a Hollywood heart today. . . . Some fastidious actresses take their own sheets and pillowcases with them wherever they travel; Marlene Dietrich is never without a traveling "gallery" of paintings by the famous French contemporary Bernard Lamotte.

An enterprising producer offered Dorothy Lamour a steep salary and percentage deal to do the original "Lulu Belle" on the summer theatre circuit concurrent with her just-released screen version of the play. Dottie's refusal was based on a heavy shooting schedule and the desire to make her first legitimate appearance in a musical comedy, if and when.

A hearty salad such as this will satisfy even the stoutest appetite. Combine cottage cheese, chopped bologna, ripe olive wedges, chopped celery and cooked peas with salt to taste and enough mayonnaise to hold the ingredients together. Use a proportion of ingredients which best suits your taste. Serve this for luncheon or supper.

Marmalade rolls are simple to make for Sunday tea. Remove the crusts from thin slices of fresh bread; spread each slice with soft butter, then with marmalade. Roll up diagonally and fasten with toothpicks before toasting under the broiler.

U. S. Women Win Their Way About Styles

By DOROTHY ROE
(AP Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK — American women have won their battle against exaggerated French styles, it became increasingly apparent after New York's hectic week of fall fashion openings.

The clothes that will be worn this fall are tailored to the American taste, simple, casual and wearable for daytime, beguiling and often sensational for after dark.

Typical of the new mode is the collection of Jo Copeland, a designer who never has gone to Paris for inspiration, believing that she knows better than the French the needs of her countrywomen. She uses opulent fabrics, unusual trimmings, a slim, sleek line and a flattering back-swoosh in a series of cocktail suits and dresses.

Notable is a black faille suit with small velvet collar, a white Alencon lace blouse and a riding habit skirt. She uses navy broadcloth in a new chiffon weight, which drapes like satin, in a distinguished theater or cocktail suit with jacket edged in black faille bands and worn with a blouse of American beauty satin.

Skirts are slim or with discreet back fullness, skirt lengths for daytime wear are eleven inches from the floor, for after five o'clock use they drop to ankle length. Her evening styles are lush and magnificent, a typical example being a sumptuous creation of pink slipper satin with full, graceful skirt, draped bodice and embroidered black velvet trim.

Anthony Blotta reintroduces Empress Eugenie to the fashion world, but with subtlety and grace lacking in the little-mourned craze of 1930. He shows huge stoles of matching fabric with suits, highlights a fabulous group of dinner and theater suits in rich and beautiful fabrics. Braid and embroidery trimmings, fringe, jet encrustations, subtle colors and costly fabrics keynote his collection.

Jams, Jellies Improve Meals

By ALICE DENHOFF

The clever cook who knows how much can be done with a shelf of jams and jellies is delighted with the roll-back of jam and jelly prices. So here is the first of a series of suggestions that we hope may interest you.

Jam quickies include such dessert quickies as toasted pound or sponge cake served warm with a tray of various jams and jellies. For another quickie, whip red raspberry or lamson plum jam into meringue-like frosting. Then dab in pert peaks on soda crackers and bake in the oven.

EASILY-PREPARED SWEET

For an easy-to-prepare sweet, roll ready-mixed biscuit dough according to package directions. Cut in squares and fill centers with apricot preserves. Pinch corners of square together and bake on cookie sheet at 400 F. 15-20 min. Or roll the dough into one-inch balls. Make a small depression in the top of each one, and fill with a bit of jam or preserves, varying the flavor from cookie to cookie. Pinch the openings together and bake.

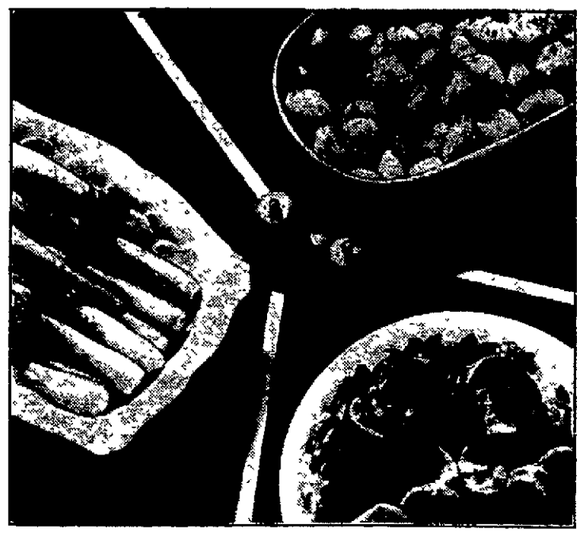
For a quick coffee cake, spread plum preserve thickly over coffee cake dough, and then sprinkle over this a regular coffee cake mixture of flour, sugar and butter before baking.

PEACH JAM

Prepare gingerbread from a ready mix and spread peach jam between two layers, with whipped cream for a topping. Nice enough for a real company dessert.

Another nice quickie is achieved by putting a white or spice layer cake together with boysenberry preserves. If boysenerry isn't available, peach or apricot will do nicely.

Pick up some ice cream on your way home, get out your favorite parfait glasses and use your favorite flavor of jam right out of the jar, to make a colorful and delicious parfait, a good businesswoman special.



Avoid Monotony; Use Sugar Glaze to Glamorize Vegetables

VEGETABLES cooked the same way, day in and day out, can become very monotonous and uninteresting fare. A change in flavor is good, and varied methods of preparation keep the family's interest high in the diet for their vitamin and mineral content.

For a change, why not try using sugar when cooking vegetables? The flavor of peas and green beans is greatly improved by the addition of a teaspoonful of sugar in the cooking water. Stewed tomatoes take kindly to a little sugar. Beets, carrots and onions becomes glamour dishes when cooked with sugar. This use of sugar in preparing vegetables affords an excellent source of quick energy for the body, too.

Harvard Beets.

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
¼ cup boiling water
⅓ cup brown sugar
¼ cup vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
⅛ teaspoon cloves
1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) sliced beets

Melt butter or margarine; add flour; blend. Add water; cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add brown sugar, vinegar, salt, pepper and cloves; stir until sugar dissolves. Drain beets and add to mixture. Heat thoroughly. Yield: 6 servings.

Candied Carrots.

1 bunch carrots
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup water
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Scrape carrots, cut in lengthwise strips or, if small, leave whole. Add remaining ingredients. Cover, cook over low heat until carrots are tender and glazed. Yield: 6 servings.

Glazed Onions.

2 pounds white onions
2 tablespoons butter or margine
6 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons water

Peel onions; cook in boiling, salted water until tender; drain. Melt butter or margarine; add sugar and water. Add onions; simmer just long enough to glaze and brown surface of onions. Yield: 6 servings.

Slacks Must Be Neat And Pressed

By ELEANOR ROSS

Slacks won't look well on the sweetest, slimmest figure if they are wrinkled, unpressed or soiled.

If you like slacks, best thing is to have a goodly supply at hand, all ready and waiting to be donned. Then there'll be no need to temporize by wearing anything less than slacks that have a fresh-from-the-store appearance. The same thing goes for shorts.

WRONG SIDE

Slacks made of dark rayon, as they so frequently are, should always be ironed on the wrong side, otherwise they'll soon be showing shine, in the best blue serge suit fashion.

When ironing slacks, first turn them inside out. Start on the pockets, using the iron set at the proper temperature. Place top of slacks over the top of the ironing board, and next iron waistband and seams, taking care to press them flat as you work along. Iron carefully the seat area and the part of the legs that is on the board.

Now we come to the legs, and come prepared to give them the best possible ironing care. First iron them inside out. Then put them, one at a time, flat on the ironing board and iron both sides thoroughly dry, pressing the seams flat as you work.

IMPORTANT PRECAUTION

Here is an important precaution: Avoid ironing in a crease. This is put in after the slacks are turned right side out. When this is done, you may find it necessary to give a few dabs to the top, over the end of the ironing board, to get a neat belt line. Then, carefully matching the leg seams at the cuff end, smooth the entire length of the leg to the crotch. Take very good care to match the seams at the crotch as well, for this is the real secret of securing a straight crease.

Use a pressing iron to press in a really sharp, keen crease. Press first the inside of the legs, then the outside. Then carefully place the two legs together, and press again.

SOME sudden development, an opportunity to put over a brilliant coup, promises rather spectacular performance, with promotion, preferment or possible public recognition. This should be readily grasped and pushed into highly novel or constructive grooves, while the tension is high. But industry, well-planned and carefully executed techniques and systematic formula, may give surprising returns of long-term and cumulative value. Feminine or family influence may be counted upon. Work for futures with ingenuity and originality. Basic issues are to be put to the test.

Those whose birthday it is, may be prepared to grasp with determination and avidity, some rather surprising opportunity, of long range benefit, with possible recognition from influential sources.

Farm Land Buyers Told To Use Care

Prices Now Top 1920 Boom Peak

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The agriculture department has some words of caution for the man who is thinking of buying farm land at current prices.

In more than half the states, farm land values now top the boom time peaks of 1920 and are the highest on record. For all states, they average around 1920 levels.

These factors should lead prospective farm buyers to "take a second look" before buying, says Harold C. Larsen of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in a written analysis of land prices.

In fact, Larsen offers a formula for that "second look." It is a means of measuring whether a man can really afford to buy farm land in spite of prices.

Here's how it works:

If a man has money to invest, he should first figure what rate of interest he would want in the event he put it to some other use than land investment. For example, he might loan the money to a farmer on a farm mortgage at five per cent interest.

But buying a farm is riskier than lending on a mortgage, which usually represents only about 50 per cent on the value of the mortgaged property. Thus the farm buyer might want another one per cent interest on his money.

If no additional risks were in the picture, the prospective buyer could therefore figure he ought to get about a 6 per cent return on his investment in farm land.

MUST COMPUTE INCOME

Next the man must estimate as accurately as possible what future net income he may expect from the land he wants to buy. He may guess that crop prospects and market prices indicate a net return of $10 an acre.

If $10 is the income per acre he can expect, and he wants 6 per cent on his money, then the $10 is 6 per cent of the value or price he can afford for farm land. In this case, it would be $166 an acre.

Should the buyer want 7 per cent, he could afford to pay only $143 an acre.

Larsen cautions that in periods of inflation buyers of land usually are unduly optimistic in guessing future income trends.

Using an interest rate just 1 per cent above average mortgage rates, net income from land for the next 10 years would have to stay at 1946 levels—three times higher than the 1935-39 average— to justify current and values.

Warns Larsen:

"In the past, farm costs have tended to catch up with farm income during periods of inflation and net incomes were reduced even though prices received for farm commodities stayed high. Many farmers are already experiencing some difficulties from this squeeze.

"When the downturn comes, costs are likely to drop more slowly than the prices of farm products. Under such conditions, farmers' net incomes are likely to shrink faster than their gross receipts.

"Obviously, the closer we come to the time when incomes will decline, the less favorable it becomes to buy land."

Home Forum Set at 'Y'

A group of Mansfield young men and women will meet at the YMCA at 7:30 p. m., today to learn more about the purchase or building of a home of their own.

Most of the members of the new group, which met for the first time last Tuesday, are veterans, but other interested Mansfielders have been invited to attend.

Thomas Zaugg, Mansfield architect, led a discussion last week when the group met at the YMCA for the first lesson in home building and buying. The meeting covered styles of construction and materials.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Zaugg, both architects, have been invited to be present tonight.

Although Maurice W. Taylor, YMCA general secretary, who headed an American Legion $1,200,000 home building project in Hamilton, he stressed that the Mansfield forum is merely an educational and informational source.
